Lightning Strikes at Binnewater

Hornbeck Has Narrow Escape

A 50-year-old resident of the village of Binnewater narrowly escaped death early Tuesday night when a bolt of lightning struck and heavily damaged his two and a half-story framed dwelling during a heavy thunderstorm.

Raymond Hornbeck, who was walking from his dining room to his living room when the blast struck, was knocked unconscious by the concussion.

HE WAS RUSHED in dazed condition to the office of Dr. Anthony J. Tocco in Stone Ridge, treated and later admitted to Kingston Hospital for observation. Authorities said his condition was good and he might be discharged today.

The Hornbeck dwelling is located near the junction of Binnewater road and Keator's Corner's road.

A next-door neighbor, whose house was shaken by the blast, said if Mr. Hornbeck had been about "two feet further it would have gotten him." He was walking into the living room to unhook the television set when lightning ripped through the attic, second and first floors and ended up in the basement. Mr. Hornbeck was blown back by the force of the blast.

MRS. HORNBECK, who was in the kitchen at the time of the blast, was shaken up but not injured.

The lightning struck a sudden summer storm which broke over the Binnewater area shortly before dark, bringing with it heavy rain and hailstones.

The same bolt also struck three trees in the yard, one about 50 feet from the house, according to Mrs. Gus Konen, a neighbor, whose home is separated from the Hornbeck dwelling by a driveway.

MRS. KONEN said three trees —a maple, locust and ash—were struck. One probably will have to come down and cracked limbs pruned from the other two. The same flash also damaged trees in a woodlot which Mrs. Konen estimated to be about 100 feet from the Hornbeck residence.

"There was a terrible explosion," she said. "I thought we were hit."

THE BOLT entered through the sidewall of the attic, continuing its oblique path down through the entire house. The attic, a room on the second floor

Soviet Apology Carries Weight

Half Pay for Plane Is Accepted by U.S.

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The United States today accepted Russia's offer to pay half the damages involved in shooting down an American Navy patrol plane over the Bering Sea last June 23.

In a conciliatory note, the State Department told the Russians the Soviet apology and offer of partial compensation provides "an acceptable basis for the disposal of this particular incident."

A SOVIET FIGHTER craft shot down the Neptune patrol plane over international waters, forcing it to crash land on St. Lawrence Island. Seven members of the 11-man crew were injured. There were no fatalities.

The Navy has estimated the cost of the plane alone, minus equipment, at about 1½ million dollars. How much more the total bill might amount to has not been disclosed.

IN ACCEPTING Russia's offer, the State Department expressed hope the Soviet government "will indeed in the future take all necessary measures to avoid repetition of this and like incidents."

The U. S. reply to the apology expressed by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov represents a softening of an initial demand that Russia pay full compensation for the loss of the plane and injury to crew members.

After Molotov's expression of regret, Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen Russia's offer to pay 50 per cent of the damages was not as good as the United States thought the Soviets should do.

PRESS OFFICER Henry Suydam, in making public the American note today, said "we will set the amount of damages" involved. The precise sum to be asked, he said, has not been determined.

Both President Eisenhower and Dulles have tended to minimize the incident, obviously to avoid a major controversy just ahead of the Big Four summit conference opening in Geneva July 18.

Eisenhower told a news conference last week he regarded the incident as a local affair, not dictated by Soviet determination to act tough prior to the meeting.

Ship Leaves With Clay Cargo

Mob Violence Prevents Unloading of Vessel

Sheboygan, Wis., July 7 (AP)—A foreign freighter, whose arrival with a load of clay for the struck Kohler Co. sparked mob violence, sailed away from this city's troubled dock area last night with the cargo still aboard.

The M. S. Fossum is under the command of Capt. F. Svensen who told newsmen the Norwegian vessel sailed out onto Lake Michigan under "sealed orders." He said he did not know his destination. The ship is out of Skien, Norway.

THE KOHLER Company announced earlier it would not try to unload the vessel. Loss of the shipment, the company said, would not force it to close.

A crowd of about 100 persons watched the ship depart quietly about 11:30 p. m. EST from its Sheboygan river dock. The same dock, 24 hours earlier, was filled with a milling crowd estimated to include 1,000 persons at times. The mob beat up a non-striking Kohler worker, broke windows in the home of another non-striker and tipped over his car, threw rocks at an auto carrying a company official and damaged unloading equipment bound for the dock.

The plumbingware firm, located in the nearby village of Kohler, has been the scene of a strike by Local 833 of the UAW-CIO since April 5, 1954. Paramount issue in the bitter dispute is union security. A National Labor Relations Board hearing into unfair labor practices charges against the company is in recess until July 20.

THE TROUBLE broke out Tuesday when the Fossum, with clay consigned from Fowley, England, to the Kohler Co., docked and the firm tried to move a derrick alongside to unload the vessel.

Police roped off the dock area Tuesday night but it was not until Sheboygan Mayor Rudolph Ploetz appealed to the crowd that the mob broke up. Ploetz announced that a meeting with the company was arranged for yesterday morning. The mayor

$1,000 GM Stocks in 1908 Worth $644,754.25 Today

New York, July 7 (AP)—It's too late now, but you might like to know you'd be a very rich individual if you had invested $1,000 in General Motors when it was first organized in 1908.

The stock went up $14.37 to $127.75 a share yesterday following the announcement that the shares will be split three-for-one. That sent the statisticians to their files to see what history showed.

That $1,000 in 1908 would have purchased 10 shares of stock in what was then known as the General Motors Co of New Jersey (it became General Motors Corp., a Delaware corporation, in 1916). Today, after taking into consideration stock splits and stock dividends over the years, those 10 shares would have become 5,047 shares.

And at yesterday's closing price of $127.75 a share, they'd be worth $644,754.25.

You would have received a comfortable sum in dividends and the sale of rights to sub-

Capital Is Still Tied By Strike

No Relief Seen In Transit Halt

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Washington's transit strike neared the end of its first week today with no sign of settlement despite efforts of various government officials.

Among suggestions yesterday was one from Chairman Neely (D.-W.Va.) and Sen. Morse (D.-Ore.) of the Senate District of Columbia Committee for a 60-day recess in the walkout which started last Friday. The AFL Transit Workers Union repeated its opposition to any recess unless the company agrees to arbitration of strike issues unsettled at that time.

THE STRIKE has tied up all district and Maryland operations of the Capital Transit Co., and forced 400,000 users of the transit system to seek other means of getting to and from work. Thousands of government workers are among those affected.

The company's 2,400 workers walked out when the company contended it could not meet their demands for higher wages and increased fringe benefits, including pensions. The union seeks a 25-cent hourly increase for bus and street car operators who now earn $1.90 an hour, and 31 cents for mechanics now paid $2.09.

BOTH THE district's governing board of commissioners and its public utilities commission talked over phases of the strike at meetings yesterday, and federal mediators have been working with company and union officials.

The company contends that tax relief and other legislation

Reported Sea Fire Is Mystery

Sweeping Search Made for Vessel

New York, July 7 (AP)—A fantastic saga of the sea—and possibly one of its greatest hoaxes —was touched off in the dark pre-dawn hours today with a strange radio report that survivors from a flame-swept fishing boat had been rescued by a foreign submarine.

Many hours later it was just as big a mystery as when the story began to unfold at 2:25 a. m. (EDT).

A SWEEPING air and sea search produced only one feeble possibility of a clue to whether anything at all actually had happened.

This was an unmarked life jacket, found by a coast guard cutter about five miles from the scene of the purported boat distress. It was estimated to have been in the water less than 24 hours.

The remarkable affair got off to a frantic start when a tugboat out of New York picked up a radio telephone from what was said to be the 40-foot fishing boat, Blue Star.

THIS MESSAGE said that the Blue Star, with 21 persons aboard, had hit an unidentified object, had caught fire and was sinking some 30 miles east of Barnegat, N. J., or about 55 miles southeast of the entrance to New York harbor.

The tug was about 50 miles from the spot.

During the next hour the tugboat, the Nancy Moran, had various reports from the purported vessel in distress, then at times reception became so poor

Former Scout Head Named Juvenile Group Director

New York, July 7—Joseph A. Brunton Jr., formerly national director of the Divisions of Relationships, National Council of Boy Scouts of America, has been appointed executive director of the Temporary State Commission on Juvenile Delinquency, Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the commission, has announced.

Designation of Mr. Brunton for the important post was revealed in New York city today by Chairman Watson, who was scheduled to visit Kigston this afternoon for a conference with State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, a member of the commission, at the offices of International Business Machines Corp. of which Mr. Watson is president.

In his post with the Boy Scouts, Mr. Brunton co-ordinated relationships of the state, national and international levels of the Boy Scouts of America with religious, civic, fraternal, veterans, educational, inter-racial, women's labor, and industrial organizations and institutions. Members of the commission feel this background in youth work admirably qualifies him to coordinate the activities of governmental and volunteer

Securing of Prison Underway

Weapon Search Is On in Cellblocks

Walla Walla, Wash., July 7 (AP)—Eight unarmed guards marched into Cellblock Six today to begin a wing by wing search of the state penitentiary for weapons prisoners may have hidden during a two-day revolt.

The guards were under orders to "secure" each cellblock, move the prisoners into the yard, and report back to the prison administration building.

PRISON OFFICIALS said the plan was to herd the prison's more than 1,700 inmates into the yard, lock off each of the seven wings and search each cell and each prisoner individually.

Thirty-eight state patrolmen, each carrying a 30-30 rifle backed up by armed guards, lined walls of the institution surrounding the yard as the search got under way.

The state patrol detail was in charge of Lt. Charles Hall who said his orders were to "protect the security of the wall only."

"Our orders are to act only in case the wall is breached."

THE FIRST GUARDS entered the cellblock more than two hours after the 5 a. m. deadline set by prison officials and revolt leaders to regain control of the institution.

Many guards at first had balked at entering the building without an armed task force preceding them to protect against violence.

The eight guards who began the search of cellblock six were unarmed however. Prison authorities said this was to demonstrate to the inmates every effort was being made to avert trouble.

GUARDS BEGAN their hold-out late last night after a check showed only a couple of dozen weapons, possibly a third of those believed to be in the hands

Priority Measures On Slate

Adjournment Is Moving Factor

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported willing today to compromise on highway and housing legislation in an effort to get bills through Congress in its closing days.

A highly placed Republican who asked not to be named said the President has indicated he will settle for action in this session on five major bills: military reserve, atomic ship, foreign aid and some kind of housing and road building measures.

THE PRESIDENT was represented as giving high priority in conferences with GOP leaders to school construction, minimum wage, polio vaccine and upper Colorado development measures. But he apparently was not insisting on their consideration if that would delay adjournment unduly.

Eisenhower was said to have indicated he would be willing to accept a compromise highway bill which was self-financing. He proposed originally that a separate agency be set up to issue bonds, not chargeable to the federal debt, to finance the federal contribution to a 10-year interstate road building program.

THE SENATE rejected this plan in passing a bill by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) which would sharply increase federal contributions on all types of roads. These increases would be financed out of current appropriations but the Gore bill made no provision for boosting revenues.

The House Public Works Committee yesterday directed a nine-member subcommittee to draft a compromise bill. The group will be headed by Rep. Fallon (D.-Md.), who has proposed a one-cent-a-gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes and a boost in some other levies to pay for expanded highway construction.

GORE ALSO has suggested a one-cent rise in the gas tax as a means of raising money for stepped-up highway construction work.

Eisenhower recommended authority to construct 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years. The Senate voted to make the figure 135,000 a year for four years. A bill jibing with Eisenhower's recommendations on this point has struck a snag in the House Rules Committee.

The President was said to feel that if no general housing measure can be pushed through it

Housing Problem Stressed

Rent Control Is Seen Lasting Several Years

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman's rent administrator says upstate landlords were granted rent increases under his predecessor "as a measure of political expediency."

Charles Abrams, in a semi-annual report to the governor, declared yesterday there was "little hope" for abolition of rent controls throughout the state within the next few years.

HE SAID that overcrowding would increase and that rents on uncontrolled dwellings might "reach new highs" unless the state found solutions to its housing problems.

Abrams asserted he found after taking the post last January that there had been "a substantial weakening of enforcement" of the rent-control law and sharp increases in rents upstate. He added:

"This was encouraged by a policy governing upstate directors under which they were encouraged to grant liberal increases to landlords, as a measure of political expediency."

He did not elaborate on how rent increases might be politically expedient.

ABRAMS SAID the state aimed to move from a controlled to an uncontrolled housing market "as fairly and speedily as possible."

But he declared the temporary State Housing Rent Commission "sees little hope for the lifting of controls throughout the state by the time the Legislature reconvenes or even by 1957 when the rent-control law is set to elapse."

He reported that 257,000 of the 589,000 controlled housing units outside New York city were decontrolled by the new rent law, which took effect July 1.

"WHILE THE LAW'S enforcement provisions were not strengthened by the 1955 legislation," Abrams asserted, "it was the first time since enactment of state controls that they were not weakened."

He contended that before he took office "wide administrative gaps were permitted" all over the state "through which certain

Statement Due On Polio Vaccine

Washington, July 7 (AP)—"An accurate forecast of available supply" of Salk polio vaccine for the rest of the summer has been promised by the U. S. Public Health Service, perhaps today.

A spokesman said yesterday the health service is working on a statement designed to show also just how much vaccine is now on hand in processing plants and not yet cleared for use.

Adjournment Is Moving Factor

Washington, July 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported willing today to compromise on highway and housing legislation in an effort to get bills through Congress in its closing days.

A highly placed Republican who asked not to be named said the President has indicated he will settle for action in this session on five major bills: military reserve, atomic ship, foreign aid and some kind of housing and road building measures.

THE PRESIDENT was represented as giving high priority in conferences with GOP leaders to school construction, minimum wage, polio vaccine and upper Colorado development measures. But he apparently was not insisting on their consideration if that would delay adjournment unduly.

Eisenhower was said to have indicated he would be willing to accept a compromise highway bill which was self-financing. He proposed originally that a separate agency be set up to issue bonds, not chargeable to the federal debt, to finance the federal contribution to a 10-year interstate road building program.

THE SENATE rejected this plan in passing a bill by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) which would sharply increase federal contributions on all types of roads. These increases would be financed out of current appropriations but the Gore bill made no provision for boosting revenues.

The House Public Works Committee yesterday directed a nine-member subcommittee to draft a compromise bill. The group will be headed by Rep. Fallon (D.-Md.), who has proposed a one-cent-a-gallon increase in federal gasoline taxes and a boost in some other levies to pay for expanded highway construction .

GORE ALSO has suggested a one-cent rise in the gas tax as a means of raising money for stepped-up highway construction work.

Eisenhower recommended authority to construct 35,000 public housing units in each of the next two years. The Senate voted to make the figure 135,000 a year for four years. A bill jibing with Eisenhower's recommendations on this point has struck a snag in the House Rules Committee.

The President was said to feel that if no general housing measure can be pushed through it

Housing Problem Stressed

Rent Control Is Seen Lasting Several Years

Albany, July 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman's rent administrator says upstate landlords were granted rent increases under his predecessor "as a measure of political expediency."

Charles Abrams, in a semi-annual report to the governor, declared yesterday there was "little hope" for abolition of rent controls throughout the state within the next few years.

HE SAID that overcrowding would increase and that rents on uncontrolled dwellings might "reach new highs" unless the state found solutions to its housing problems.

Abrams asserted he found after taking the post last January that there had been "a substantial weakening of enforcement" of the rent-control law and sharp increases in rents upstate. He added:

"This was encouraged by a policy governing upstate directors under which they were encouraged to grant liberal increases to landlords, as a measure of political expediency."

He did not elaborate on how rent increases might be politically expedient.

ABRAMS SAID the state aimed to move from a controlled to an uncontrolled housing market "as fairly and speedily as possible."

But he declared the temporary State Housing Rent Commission "sees little hope for the lifting of controls throughout the state by the time the Legislature reconvenes or even by 1957 when the rent-control law is set to elapse."

He reported that 257,000 of the 589,000 controlled housing units outside New York city were decontrolled by the new rent law, which took effect July 1.

"WHILE THE LAW'S enforcement provisions were not strengthened by the 1955 legislation," Abrams asserted, "it was the first time since enactment of state controls that they were not weakened."

He contended that before he took office "wide administrative gaps were permitted" all over the state "through which certain

Statement Due On Polio Vaccine

Washington, July 7 (AP)—"An accurate forecast of available supply" of Salk polio vaccine for the rest of the summer has been promised by the U. S. Public Health Service, perhaps today.

A spokesman said yesterday the health service is working on a statement designed to show also just how much vaccine is now on hand in processing plants and not yet cleared for use.

STRIKERS HALT CRANE AT KOHLER PLANT — Some of the crowd of about 2,500 strikers and onlookers gather about a truck which was brought to a stop by striking workers at the Kohler Company, plumbing fixture manufacturers in Sheboygan, Wis. The truck was attempting to enter a dock to which was moored a Norwegian vessel with a shipment of clay for the Kohler Company. The strike has been on since April of 1954. (AP Wirephoto).

Accompanying the group were: Edmund R. Bower, Miss Patricia French and Miss Margaret E. Gippert.

DEAN W. I. MYERS of the College of Agriculture welcomed the delegates and challenged them to use the freedom and responsibility which is theirs as Americans, "to make the best better—in whatever you do, wherever you are, and to get in the habit of doing your best at all times."

Dr. M. C. Bond, director of extension welcomed the group on behalf of the N. Y. S. Extension Service and acquainted them with the new name of the Extension Service at the county level. In discussing the Extension reorganization he said, "the 'County Extension Service Association' will be the new name to replace the present 'County Farm and Home Bureau and 4-H Club Association' name Jan. 1, 1956.

Trust in God

Baltimore (AP)—Catholic War Veterans, crusading for more recognition of God in American life, are encouraging Marylanders to sing the last stanza of the National Anthem. In that stanza are the words "in God is our trust." Dan Ogelsand, first vice commander of the CWV Department of Maryland, said specially-cut 45 RPM records of the "Star Spangled Banner will be distributed to all posts. Some posts plan to present the records, by the Boy's Town Choir, to schools, he said.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 7, 1955

LONGER DAYLIGHT

Daylight saving is liked by most city-dwellers and is widely unpopular in farming areas, but it is making headway. Heretofore the rule has been to end it on Sept. 26. But now New Jersey has extended the period until Nov. 1, an action previously taken by New York. Similar legislation is pending in Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The friends of daylight saving have always thought the September ending too early. Fine weather, permitting outdoor activities after the city man's return home from work can generally be counted on till Nov. 1. In many parts of the country autumn is apt to offer the best weather of the year.

Most state legislatures are so districted as to give the rural dwellers representation of all proportion to their numbers, so that friends of the extension will have a hard fight on their hands. Still the original establishment of daylight saving was put through in spite of this opposition, so perhaps there are enough people who like it to give a prolongation of the period a chance.

COMMUNISM SELF-DRAWN

The present Russian love for Marshal Tito, Yugoslav Communist who broke away from Russian rule, contrasts strangely with remarks made not many years ago. Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, present head of the Soviet state, said in 1949:

"Tito and his helpers have converted Yugoslavia into a Gestapo prison where every reflection of free thought and human rights is put down, where the advanced representatives of the working class, the toiling peasantry and the intelligentsia are brutally murdered. All progressive humanity looks with loathing upon these despicable traitors, agents and aides of imperialism who fulfill the will of their masters!"

Bulganin has not drawn this picture entirely from his imagination. It stands as a recognizable representation of the way the Russian government functions.

THE PRIMARY GAINS

The convention system for nominating political candidates has lost almost its last stronghold. Connecticut, which has long stood out against the direct primary, has voted to substitute it for the old-time conventions. A major sponsor of the change was the Connecticut League of Women Voters. This shows anew what was generally known before, that when women make up their minds on something, they are apt to get it.

New York is the only other state where nominations are made by convention. The Connecticut example will encourage the New York advocates of the primary to make a new fight.

The primary has come a long way in the half century of its life. With all its faults, it is less subject to manipulation than the old type of smoke-filled room occupied by hardboiled party workers.

It's a toss-up to tell which is more difficult—trying to find the money to pay for a car or finding a place to park it.

CLUBWOMAN VINDICATED

The clubwoman used to be a popular subject for satire. She was supposed to be earnest but woolly-minded. Often she was merely a social climber who joined clubs because they were the thing and might help her to meet desirable people. Her real interest in the subjects assigned her for papers could be summed up in the story of the lady who breezed into a library and said that she had to prepare a paper on China and needed everything possible on the topic.

"Do you mean," she was asked, "the country or porcelain?"

"Good heavens!" she replied. "I don't know!"

Now, according to Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, director of the bureau for women's organizations in Hartford, Conn., women are more sensible and less butterfly-minded. Their papers are serious and not copied from the encyclopedia. The average woman's club today is definitely broadening and educational.

'These Days'

THE EROSION OF FREEDOM

The current attack on the American press is characteristic of a reaction against freedom. The American press consists of numerous publications, newspapers, news magazines, newsletters, pamphlets, radio and television newscasters and commentators. Their number is not limited to the daily newspapers but are legion, and they are variously owned.

For instance, among the Conservatives, a Washington newsletter "Human Events" is a free organ of expression; among the anti-Semites, such a paper as "Common Sense" enjoys wide currency; while the "National Guardian" provides the line for the Communists and their fellow-travellers. These are but three of typical organs of dissent if we recognize what is called the middle-of-the-road as a symbol of orthodoxy.

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, addressing American editors last April, said:

". . . Since most of you take the official line, that the only important fact of life is our imminent danger from the international conspiracy, most of you have watched the erosion of freedom without a twinge. . . ."

Fortunately what he here says is not true, but it is characteristic of the attack on American publications. Although there has been too great a tendency, developed over the past two decades, to accept a government handout as news, no one can identify an imposed official line. Certainly what may be lacking in ordinary reporting, some columnist will catch, and what may be missing in one organ of expression will be found in another. Somehow, somewhere, the news does get out.

Controversy over the news is not as forceful and vitriolic as when Horace Greeley, Charles Dana or William Randolph Hearst wrote editorials, but then this is another era and the temper of the people is different. It is characteristic of this period that those who use a powerful fist for causes are not as avidly read as those who approach their problem with reason. The public is not a little weary of more than 20 years of the same controversy.

Men like Dr. Hutchins are often antagonistic to the press because newspapers do not accept their particular line of thought. If every newspaper in the United States echoed the thinking of Dr. Hutchins or anyone else, would the press be more free than it is today?

The main problem relating to freedom of the press that an editor faces today is not inside the newspaper but outside it. Understandably in time of war, an entire sector of information must be withheld from the public lest it interfere with war activities, give aid and comfort to the enemy, etc. In ordinary circumstances, when the war is over, we return to normal procedures. But World War II is not really ended yet. Since 1945, it has been followed by the Cold War, the Korean War, the propaganda for neutralism, Foreign Ministers conferences, the development of the atom, etc. Not only our own government but others have clamped down on news as though we were living through a war.

If Dr. Hutchins and other critics of the press were to be permitted to edit newspapers all on their own, they would soon discover that there are entire areas of information that, while available, are unusable because their truth cannot be established without the power of subpoena. The courts and juries have become so generous to those who sue for libel that one often sits on a story hoping that it might come out in a Congressional committee or some other "privileged" organ. This is particularly true in criminal and subversive cases in which the missing bit of evidence can only be supplied by the persons involved. And they, naturally, do not choose to supply it.

There has been no erosion of freedom in the American means of expression, as a whole. The pressure of those who attack the press is not on the basis of general conformity. They do not object to those who conform to their notions. They only quarrel with those who do not conform to their line. Dr. Hutchins said in April:

". . . Listen to the wire-tapping, to the cry of Fifth Amendment Communists, to the kept witnesses roaming the land. The most distressing part of it is not that these things happen, but that the free press of this country appears to regard them as matters of routine."

Who made it routine news? Certainly not the press but those who imperil their country.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

IS YOUR CHILD STARTING SCHOOL

A familiar cartoon or picture deals with the sad-eyed mother watching her child start out to school the first day. She feels that the child is taking his first steps away from her and from the home, out into the world. The child is usually pictured as carefree with never a backward glance. Is this the true picture from the child's point of view? Many research workers say, "No."

They point out the child is faced with three major challenges when he begins school: leaving his home, adjusting to other children, and, above all, learning. If he succeeds in this work, he may be able to go smoothly through school. If he fails, the failure may cling to him through life.

The child's health is usually good at this age. He will be exposed to a variety of contagious diseases from which he usually recovers quite easily. There is, of course, always the risk of such a major illness as rheumatic fever, but, actually, the school age youngster is more frequently in danger from automobiles than from serious diseases. However, for some children, going out of the home may be a very hazardous step. Abdominal pain, waking up and crying out in his sleep, and bed-wetting are typical symptoms a child may develop when he is getting acquainted with school.

There is also the problem of adjusting to a large number of children and sitting with them throughout a school day which is much different from his preschool freedom. Many react to this with restlessness which during later years may develop into facial and arm tics and the symptoms of chorea ("St. Vitus" Dance). It is important that this is recognized because such children should be put to bed at once.

The third problem is learning and the chief trouble here seems to be learning to read. To many children, this is a real hazard and if a child is having difficulty learning to read, it is necessary to find out whether he is lacking in intelligence or whether he is not using the intelligence he does have. Failure to learn to read is associated with a child's whole attitude toward himself and toward school.

Frequnetly he is judged a failure by the school because of his difficulty and this feeling of failure accounts for the complaints of many school-age children. In later years, theer may be severe behavior problems and even delinquency which can often be traced to a child's feeling of insecurity and inadequacy. It is important for the physician treating a child with many aches and pains to think of learning difficulty as a possible cause. A thorough physical examination, helping the child to adjust to his school work and helping the parents understand the child's problems are all part of the physician's job. Children who have succeeded in early school-age adjustment develp an ability to work and to perform work satisfactorily.

"This Isn't Exactly What I Was Thinking Of..."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The main purpose of the Big Four conference at Geneva on July 18 is said to be—to put it tritely—"identification of the causes of world tension."

It isn't proposed that anything specific be done about these tensions at Geneva. That spade work will be left for the foreign ministers and the technical experts to settle later.

Why President Eisenhower and the heads of the British, French and Russian governments should have to spend even four days to identify what's wrong with the world would seem to be a little difficult to explain to anyone with the intelligence of—say a high school senior.

A bunch of such students in their current events class should be able to list these causes of tension on one sheet of yellow tablet in an hour's exam. But statesmen and diplomats have to do things the hard way, so they call an international conference. At the summit.

As a matter of record, these causes of tension were pretty well listed by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the United Nations tenth birthday party in San Francisco. But their lists didn't jibe.

SECRETARY DULLES listed seven tensions, like this:

The ten-year-old problem of German unification.

Eastern European satellite nations held in servitude.

Chinese Communist aggression in Korea and Indo-China.

Chinese Communist threats against the independence of Formosa.

World threat caused by international Communist agitation.

The urgent problem of limiting the burden of armaments.

The failure to internationalize control of atomic energy.

MR. MOLOTOV'S POINTS aren't as clearly stated as this. But by condensing his purposely vague and often double-meaning paragraphs, his list of the causes of tension may be presented in substance somewhat as follows:

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty Organization and similar alliances against Russia.

Maintenance of foreign troops on German soil.

Western powers' military bases on foreign soil.

Failure to settle Far East problems "in accordance with the principles of sovereignty and territorial integrity." (This is taken to mean withdrawal of western support for free Korea and Indochina, and turning over Formosa to Red China.)

Western barriers against trade with Communist bloc countries.

Lack of close cultural relations between East and West.

Western powers' refusal to accept Russia's last offer on disarmament and control of atomic weapons.

Western powers' use of propaganda for a third world war.

THERE IS LITTLE similarity between the Dulles and Molotov analyses. The two statesmen are viewing the world through different glasses—definitely not rose-colored — and speaking different languages.

And when it comes to writing a program for implementing this easing of tensions, the two sides are just as far apart.

The Dulles formula as stated at San Francisco is short and sweet: Let the Soviet Union abide by the principles of the United Nations instead of thwarting its programs by the veto.

Molotov calls for a world conference on disarmament in 1956, ignoring the fact that the Russians have blocked all disarmament efforts in the United Nations for ten years.

Molotov calls for an international trade conference—ignoring the fact that the Communists themselves have set up more barriers against foreign commerce than have been set up against them.

Molotov calls for more cultural exchanges between East and West, and more tourist trade. This ignores the fact that it is almost impossible for anyone to get into or out of any of the Communist countries.

MOLOTOV CALLS FOR more trust between nations, though the Communist countries have never trusted even their own people.

But by this proposed program, Molotov makes the assertion that the cold war will be ended and a new atmosphere of peaceful coexistence will somehow mysteriously materialize.

This being the situation, the outlook for any great achievements at the Geneva conference does not seem too hopeful.

India Ambassador Seen As Moral Principle Foe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 6—Krishna Menon, described as "India's roving ambassador" but who is really an instrument of Soviet policy, is getting quite a publicity buildup in America—which is exactly what he has sought in order to enable him to carry out his mission of so-called mediation between Red China and the United States.

Not only has Menon interjected himself as a "mediator" and virtually demanded that President Eisenhower give him time for conversation "at the summit" here, but he would, if he could, continually bypass the Secretary of State. Fortunately, Mr. Eisenhower doesn't see alleged envoys of the Communist or neutralist world without Mr. Dulles being present.

MENON WAS given an opportunity to address the National Press Club here this week. He also obtained the limelight during the recent United Nations celebration in San Francisco. His doubletalk, however, has never been more vividly illustrated than in his answers to questions. Thus, when he took issue at the press club with the blanket description of India as "neutralist," he said:

"We are not neutral in regard to peace and social justice. . . . We are not neutral toward attempts to conciliate international differences."

BUT A FEW minutes later Menon said his country was not "concerned with who is right and who is wrong" but wanted to find a way to solve the whole problem of Americans held by Red China.

It doesn't apparently make any difference to Krishna Menon whether the Communists have violated their written pledge, given at Panmunjom, to return all prisoners of war. His idea of impartiality was revealed when he was asked whether he regarded the present "softness" of the Soviet as genuine. He replied that "we have found it better to accept people for what they say and not suspect them."

SUCH STUDIED indifference to the laws of morality and justice and to the honoring of sacred pledges can be expected from a Communist regime, but Menon is trying to pose as a "neutral" and as a "mediator." He actually accepts the immorality of the Soviet policies by calling it "realism."

Menon declared that the leaders of India—one of whom he professes to be—are "realists" and that, if adopting "any particular viewpoint" at a certain time "becomes advantageous, we try it."

There's the whole case for expediency and against moral principle, as expressed by the man who is given prominence on his visits to this country and who is received with open arms in Moscow. Menon isn't influenced at all by the fact that 40,000 American boys were killed and 110,000 wounded in Korea in order to repel aggression and secure obedience to a United Nations resolution seeking to establish morality in the world.

THE "ROVING Ambassador" from New Delhi isn't evidently concerned either with the fact that the United Nations declared Red China an aggressor and that the Peiping government insulted and denounced the UN at Geneva last year and still refuses to allow a settlement of the Korean problem to be undertaken under the auspices of the UN. The Red China government naturally wants its partisan, Krishna Menon, to handle this matter because of a confidence that he will achieve what the UN refused to do for the Communists.

Menon, moreover, doesn't hesitate to say publicly now that the Mastu and Quemoy group of islands, as well as Formosa, should be handed over to the Red China regime. Why should any one be trusted as a "mediator" who openly champions the cause of one or the other of the parties to a dispute? This question presents no difficulty to the crafty mind of Krishna Menon but the situation makes little sense to those who respect the moral position of the United Nations and of this country in the disputes with Soviet Russia and Red China.

MENON'S FORMULA is for the United States to give up all bases and all her interests in the Far East, dissolve the Nationalist army which is helping to defend Southeast Asia and sell out the South Korean government to the Communists. It is a mystery why they waste so much time here with a self-appointed partisan of the Communists who doesn't speak for the people of India or even the important diplomats of that country who privately say they have no illusions about Menon's meddlesome crusade.

Menon may be relying on the naivete of some Americans. Who encourages him in such ideas? Incidentally, who gave U Nu the Prime Minister of Burma, what he says was an "impression" he derived during his recent visit to Washington that the United States government really favors admission of Red China to the United Nations and that the only question to be decided was the "timing"? It's possible that there are "left wingers" here who are stimulating such erroneous thoughts but, if they ever submit the issue to the American people in any Congressional or Presidential election, they will find themselves much mistaken.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Memphis, Tenn.—The deep south is in for serious trouble with the AFL-CIO, the United Mine Workers and the railroad unions. These great political forces, operating under union credentials and a thin pretense of representing "labor," are just skirmishing to date, but with enough force and bloodshed to show that the movement has not changed since the wild insurrections in the northern industrial states in the mid-thirties.

The terroristic tactics in the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Bell Telephone strikes are practically the same as those of the CIO revolution under John L. Lewis and the United Auto Workers under Walter Reuther and his brother, Victor.

Walter Reuther seems genteel in his dealings with Ford and General Motors. He has been cleaned up and represented as a political genius with a most promising future. Justice William O. Douglas, of the Supreme Court, made a speech to an annual convention of the CIO a few years ago and, just now, all comprehensive political speculation includes Douglas among the presidential possibilities for 1960, as Reuther's candidate.

However, Reuther, himself, must be reckoned with because the presidency would be a grand triumph for a man who closed a letter from Russia to American union revolutionaries back home in 1934, "Carry on the fight for a Soviet America." The authenticity of this commitment, signed "Vic and Wal," has been challenged. Walter Reuther claims it is distorted, but without specifications. He said further, however, that it was "A burst of adolescent enthusiasm" which would seem to be an admission that the text, as published in the record by the Dies committee, is authentic.

The southern tier is now going "industrial" as California, Arizona and northern Mexico usurp the function of the old cotton belt. A large planter in the black fields across the Mississippi from Memphis, said the cotton acreage was dwindling and not likely to increase for many reasons. Southwestern growers can weed and harvest cotton by machine at a rate ruinously low for cotton belt producers.

Arkansas is trying to adopt a mixed economy, with manufacturing and processing absorbing home labor hitherto dependent on farming and for meagre rewards at that. Thus far, there is little "industry" and the wages are low. In 38 of her 75 counties, there are fewer than 500 "industrial" jobs per county. There are only 80,000 such jobs in the whole state and the average wage in 1954 was only $54. Newspapers urgently insist that the state needs more "industry" to encourage natives to stay home.

In this respect, Arkansas probably is the most laggard of the southern states, but a great economic revolution has been going on across the south for years, largely devoted to war business in the first place. It will continue until the north and east have lost their old advantage over the field-hand population of the denim country. That does not mean that all the southern operators will be "fugitives" from the harassments of union agents, pickets and lawyers and the harsh laws of the north and east. There is a great net growth of "industry" for the whole country and much of it is found in the south.

Inevitably, the unions shove their frontiers ahead as factories of many kinds rise in virgin territory. Inevitably, when unions move into new country there is resistace from the governing element and, for that matter, from workers, too, who are unaccustomed to coercion and all the personal nastiness of picket activity, especially at the homes of non-joiners and non-strikers. But the unions always win and already in the south, Alabama has a governor as partial to unions as any governor Michign ever had. Orval Faubus, of Arkansas, attended Commonwealth College, a Communist school. He is a radical Democrat. Texas had a hard time standing off the CIO in last year's election, and the fight in Louisiana was won by the regular Democrats by a narrow margin. Many orthodox southern Democrats place their hopes in Eisenhower only because the AFL-CIO and other elements of this revolutionary invasion of their homeland oppose him.

With all the experience of the north available for study and personally known to many southerners, the resistance against the unions still follows futile lines. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 7, 1955

LONGER DAYLIGHT

Daylight saving is liked by most city-dwellers and is widely unpopular in farming areas, but it is making headway. Heretofore the rule has been to end it on Sept. 26. But now New Jersey has extended the period until Nov. 1, an action previously taken by New York. Similar legislation is pending in Pennsylvania and Delaware.

The friends of daylight saving have always thought the September ending too early. Fine weather, permitting outdoor activities after the city man's return home from work can generally be counted on till Nov. 1. In many parts of the country autumn is apt to offer the best weather of the year.

Most state legislatures are so districted as to give the rural dwellers representation of all proportion to their numbers, so that friends of the extension will have a hard fight on their hands. Still the original establishment of daylight saving was put through in spite of this opposition, so perhaps there are enough people who like it to give a prolongation of the period a chance.

COMMUNISM SELF-DRAWN

The present Russian love for Marshal Tito, Yugoslav Communist who broke away from Russian rule, contrasts strangely with remarks made not many years ago. Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, present head of the Soviet state, said in 1949:

"Tito and his helpers have converted Yugoslavia into a Gestapo prison where every reflection of free thought and human rights is put down, where the advanced representatives of the working class, the toiling peasantry and the intelligentsia are brutally murdered. All progressive humanity looks with loathing upon these despicable traitors, agents and aides of imperialism who fulfill the will of their masters!"

Bulganin has not drawn this picture entirely from his imagination. It stands as a recognizable representation of the way the Russian government functions.

THE PRIMARY GAINS

The convention system for nominating political candidates has lost almost its last stronghold. Connecticut, which has long stood out against the direct primary, has voted to substitute it for the old-time conventions. A major sponsor of the change was the Connecticut League of Women Voters. This shows anew what was generally known before, that when women make up their minds on something, they are apt to get it.

New York is the only other state where nominations are made by convention. The Connecticut example will encourage the New York advocates of the primary to make a new fight.

The primary has come a long way in the half century of its life. With all its faults, it is less subject to manipulation than the old type of smoke-filled room occupied by hardboiled party workers.

It's a toss-up to tell which is more difficult—trying to find the money to pay for a car or finding a place to park it.

CLUBWOMAN VINDICATED

The clubwoman used to be a popular subject for satire. She was supposed to be earnest but woolly-minded. Often she was merely a social climber who joined clubs because they were the thing and might help her to meet desirable people. Her real interest in the subjects assigned her for papers could be summed up in the story of the lady who breezed into a library and said that she had to prepare a paper on China and needed everything possible on the topic.

"Do you mean," she was asked, "the country or porcelain?"

"Good heavens!" she replied. "I don't know!"

Now, according to Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, director of the bureau for women's organizations in Hartford, Conn., women are more sensible and less butterfly-minded. Their papers are serious and not copied from the encyclopedia. The average woman's club today is definitely broadening and educational.

'These Days'

THE EROSION OF FREEDOM

The current attack on the American press is characteristic of a reaction against freedom. The American press consists of numerous publications, newspapers, news magazines, newsletters, pamphlets, radio and television newscasters and commentators. Their number is not limited to the daily newspapers but are legion, and they are variously owned.

For instance, among the Conservatives, a Washington newsletter "Human Events" is a free organ of expression; among the anti-Semites, such a paper as "Common Sense" enjoys wide currency; while the "National Guardian" provides the line for the Communists and their felow-travellers. These are but three of typical organs of dissent if we recognize what is called the middle-of-the-road as a symbol of orthodoxy.

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, addressing American editors last April, said:

". . . Since most of you take the official line, that the only important fact of life is our imminent danger from the international conspiracy, most of you have watched the erosion of freedom without a twinge. . . ."

Fortunately what he here says is not true, but it is characteristic of the attack on American publications. Although there has been too great a tendency, developed over the past two decades, to accept a government handout as news, no one can identify an imposed official line. Certainly what may be lacking in ordinary reporting, some columnist will catch, and what may be missing in one organ of expression will be found in another. Somehow, somewhere, the news does get out.

Controversy over the news is not as forceful and vitriolic as when Horace Greeley, Charles Dana or William Randolph Hearst wrote editorials, but then this is another era and the temper of the people is different. It is characteristic of this period that those who use a powerful fist for causes are not as avidly read as those who approach their problem with reason. The public is not a little weary of more than 20 years of the same controversy.

Men like Dr. Hutchins are often antagonistic to the press because newspapers do not accept their particular line of thought. If every newspaper in the United States echoed the thinking of Dr. Hutchins or anyone else, would the press be more free than it is today ?

The main problem relating to freedom of the press that an editor faces today is not inside the newspaper but outside it. Understandably in time of war, an entire sector of information must be withheld from the public lest it interfere with war activities, give aid and comfort to the enemy, etc. In ordinary circumstances, when the war is over, we return to normal procedures. But World War II is not really ended yet. Since 1945, it has been followed by the Cold War, the Korean War, the propaganda for neutralism, Foreign Ministers conferences, the development of the atom, etc. Not only our own government but others have clamped down on news as though we were living through a war.

If Dr. Hutchins and other critics of the press were to be permitted to edit newspapers all on their own, they would soon discover that there are entire areas of information that, while available, are unusable because their truth cannot be established without the power of subpoena. The courts and juries have become so generous to those who sue for libel that one often sits on a story hoping that it might come out in a Congressional committee or some other "privileged" organ. This is particularly true in criminal and subversive cases in which the missing bit of evidence can only be supplied by the persons involved. And they, naturally, do not choose to supply it.

There has been no erosion of freedom in the American means of expression, as a whole. The pressure of those who attack the press is not on the basis of general conformity. They do not object to those who conform to their notions. They only quarrel with those who do not conform to their line. Dr. Hutchins said in April:

". . . Listen to the wire-tapping, to the cry of Fifth Amendment Communists, to the kept witnesses roaming the land. The most distressing part of it is not that these things happen, but that the free press of this country appears to regard them as matters of routine."

Who made it routine news? Certainly not the press but those who imperil their country.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

IS YOUR CHILD STARTING SCHOOL

A familiar cartoon or picture deals with the sad-eyed mother watching her child start out to school the first day. She feels that the child is taking his first steps away from her and from the home, out into the world. The child is usually pictured as carefree with never a backward glance. Is this the true picture from the child's point of view? Many research workers say, "No."

They point out the child is faced with three major challenges when he begins school: leaving his home, adjusting to other children, and, above all, learning. If he succeeds in this work, he may be able to go smoothly through school. If he fails, the failure may cling to him through life.

The child's health is usually good at this age. He will be exposed to a variety of contagious diseases from which he usually recovers quite easily. There is, of course, always the risk of such a major illness as rheumatic fever, but, actually, the school age youngster is more frequently in danger from automobiles than from serious diseases. However, for some children, going out of the home may be a very hazardous step. Abdominal pain, waking up and crying out in his sleep, and bed-wetting are typical symptoms a child may develop when he is getting acquainted with school.

There is also the problem of adjusting to a large number of children and sitting with them throughout a school day which is much different from his preschool freedom. Many react to this with restlessness which during later years may develop into facial and arm tics and the symptoms of chorea ("St. Vitus" Dance). It is important that this is recognized because such children should be put to bed at once.

The third problem is learning and the chief trouble here seems to be learning to read. To many children, this is a real hazard and if a child is having difficulty learning to read, it is necessary to find out whether he is lacking in intelligence or whether he is not using the intelligence he does have. Failure to learn to read is associated with a child's whole attitude toward himself and toward school.

Frequnetly he is judged a failure by the school because of his difficulty and this feeling of failure accounts for the complaints of many school-age children. In later years, theer may be severe behavior problems and even delinquency which can often be traced to a child's feeling of insecurity and inadequacy. It is important for the physician treating a child with many aches and pains to think of learning difficulty as a possible cause. A thorough physical examination, helping the child to adjust to his school work and helping the parents understand the child's problems are all part of the physician's job. Children who have succeeded in early school-age adjustment develp an ability to work and to perform work satisfactorily.

"This Isn't Exactly What I Was Thinking Of. . ."

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The main purpose of the Big Four conference at Geneva on July 18 is said to be—to put it tritely—"identification of the causes of world tension."

It isn't proposed that anything specific be done about these tensions at Geneva. That spade work will be left for the foreign ministers and the technical experts to settle later.

Why President Eisenhower and the heads of the British, French and Russian governments should have to spend even four days to identify what's wrong with the world would seem to be a little difficult to explain to anyone with the intelligence of—say a high school senior.

A bunch of such students in their current events class should be able to list these causes of tension on one sheet of yellow tablet in an hour's exam. But statesmen and diplomats have to do things the hard way, so they call an international conference. At the summit.

As a matter of record, these causes of tension were pretty well listed by U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at the United Nations tenth birthday party in San Francisco. But their lists didn't jibe.

SECRETARY DULLES listed seven tensions, like this:

The ten-year-old problem of German unification.

Eastern European satellite nations held in servitude.

Chinese Communist aggression in Korea and Indo-China.

Chinese Communist threats against the independence of Formosa.

World threat caused by international Communist agitation.

The urgent problem of limiting the burden of armaments.

The failure to internationalize control of atomic energy.

MR. MOLOTOV'S POINTS aren't as clearly stated as this. But by condensing his purposely vague and often double-meaning paragraphs, his list of the causes of tension may be presented in substance somewhat as follows:

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty Organization and similar alliances against Russia.

Maintenance of foreign troops on German soil.

Western powers' military bases on foreign soil.

Failure to settle Far East problems "in accordance with the principles of sovereignty and territorial integrity." (This is taken to mean withdrawal of western support for free Korea and Indochina, and turning over Formosa to Red China.)

Western barriers against trade with Communist bloc countries.

Lack of close cultural relations between East and West.

Western powers' refusal to accept Russia's last offer on disarmament and control of atomic weapons.

Western powers' use of propaganda for a third world war.

THERE IS LITTLE similarity between the Dulles and Molotov analyses. The two statesmen are viewing the world through different glasses—definitely not rose-colored — and speaking different languages.

And when it comes to writing a program for implementing this easing of tensions, the two sides are just as far apart.

The Dulles formula as stated at San Francisco is short and sweet: Let the Soviet Union abide by the principles of the United Nations instead of thwarting its programs by the veto.

Molotov calls for a world conference on disarmament in 1956, ignoring the fact that the Russians have blocked all disarmament efforts in the United Nations for ten years.

Molotov calls for an international trade conference—ignoring the fact that the Communists themselves have set up more barriers against foreign commerce than have been set up against them.

Molotov calls for more cultural exchanges between East and West, and more tourist trade. This ignores the fact that it is almost impossible for anyone to get into or out of any of the Communist countries.

MOLOTOV CALLS FOR more trust between nations, though the Communist countries have never trusted even their own people.

But by this proposed program, Molotov makes the assertion that the cold war will be ended and a new atmosphere of peaceful coexistence will somehow mysteriously materialize.

This being the situation, the outlook for any great achievements at the Geneva conference does not seem too hopeful.

India Ambassador Seen As Moral Principle Foe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 6—Krishna Menon, described as "India's roving ambassador" but who is really an instrument of Soviet policy, is getting quite a publicity buildup in America—which is exactly what he has sought in order to enable him to carry out his mission of so-called mediation between Red China and the United States.

Not only has Menon interjected himself as a "mediator" and virtually demanded that President Eisenhower give him time for conversation "at the summit" here, but he would, if he could, continually bypass the Secretary of State. Fortunately, Mr. Eisenhower doesn't see alleged envoys of the Communist or neutralist world without Mr. Dulles being present.

MENON WAS given an opportunity to address the National Press Club here this week. He also obtained the limelight during the recent United Nations celebration in San Francisco. His doubletalk, however, has never been more vividly illustrated than in his answers to questions. Thus, when he took issue at the press club with the blanket description of India as "neutralist," he said:

"We are not neutral in regard to peace and social justice. . . . We are not neutral toward attempts to conciliate international differences."

BUT A FEW minutes later Menon said his country was not "concerned with who is right and who is wrong" but wanted to find a way to solve the whole problem of Americans held by Red China.

It doesn't apparently make any difference to Krishna Menon whether the Communists have violated their written pledge, given at Panmunjom, to return all prisoners of war. His idea of impartiality was revealed when he was asked whether he regarded the present "softness" of the Soviet as genuine. He replied that "we have found it better to accept people for what they say and not suspect them."

SUCH STUDIED indifference to the laws of morality and justice and to the honoring of sacred pledges can be expected from a Communist regime, but Menon is trying to pose as a "neutral" and as a "mediator." He actually accepts the immorality of the Soviet policies by calling it "realism."

Menon declared that the leaders of India—one of whom he professes to be—are "realists" and that, if adopting "any particular viewpoint" at a certain time "becomes advantageous, we try it."

There's the whole case for expediency and against moral principle, as expressed by the man who is given prominence on his visits to this country and who is received with open arms in Moscow. Menon isn't influenced at all by the fact that 40,000 American boys were killed and 110,000 wounded in Korea in order to repel aggression and secure obedience to a United Nations resolution seeking to establish morality in the world.

THE "ROVING Ambassador" from New Delhi isn't evidently concerned either with the fact that the United Nations declared Red China an aggressor and that the Peiping government insulted and denounced the UN at Geneva last year and still refuses to allow a settlement of the Korean problem to be undertaken under the auspices of the UN. The Red China government naturally wants its partisan, Krishna Menon, to handle this matter because of a confidence that he will achieve what the UN refused to do for the Communists.

Menon, moreover, doesn't hesitate to say publicly now that the Mastu and Quemoy group of islands, as well as Formosa, should be handed over to the Red China regime. Why should any one be trusted as a "mediator" who openly champions the cause of one or the other of the parties to a dispute? This question presents no difficulty to the crafty mind of Krishna Menon but the situation makes little sense to those who respect the moral position of the United Nations and of this country in the disputes with Soviet Russia and Red China.

MENON'S FORMULA is for the United States to give up all bases and all her interests in the Far East, dissolve the Nationalist army which is helping to defend Southeast Asia and sell out the South Korean government to the Communists. It is a mystery why they waste so much time here with a self-appointed partisan of the Communists who doesn't speak for the people of India or even the important diplomats of that country who privately say they have no illusions about Menon's meddlesome crusade.

Menon may be relying on the naivete of some Americans. Who encourages him in such ideas? Incidentally, who gave U Nu the Prime Minister of Burma, what he says was an "impression" he derived during his recent visit to Washington that the United States government really favors admission of Red China to the United Nations and that the only question to be decided was the "timing"? It's possible that there are "left wingers" here who are stimulating such erroneous thoughts but, if they ever submit the issue to the American people in any Congressional or Presidential election, they will find themselves much mistaken.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Memphis, Tenn.—The deep south is in for serious trouble with the AFL-CIO, the United Mine Workers and the railroad unions. These great political forces, operating under union credentials and a thin pretense of representing "labor," are just skirmishing to date, but with enough force and bloodshed to show that the movement has not changed since the wild insurrections in the northern industrial states in the mid-thirties.

The terroristic tactics in the Louisville and Nashville and Southern Bell Telephone strikes are practically the same as those of the CIO revolution under John L. Lewis and the United Auto Workers under Walter Reuther and his brother, Victor.

Walter Reuther seems genteel in his dealings with Ford and General Motors. He has been cleaned up and represented as a political genius with a most promising future. Justice William O. Douglas, of the Supreme Court, made a speech to an annual convention of the CIO a few years ago and, just now, all comprehensive political speculation includes Douglas among the presidential possibilities for 1960, as Reuther's candidate.

However, Reuther, himself, must be reckoned with because the presidency would be a grand triumph for a man who closed a letter from Russia to American union revolutionaries back home in 1934, "Carry on the fight for a Soviet America." The authenticity of this commitment, signed "Vic and Wal," has been challenged. Walter Reuther claims it is distorted, but without specifications. He said further, however, that it was "A burst of adolescent enthusiasm" which would seem to be an admission that the text, as published in the record by the Dies committee, is authentic.

The southern tier is now going "industrial" as California, Arizona and northern Mexico usurp the function of the old cotton belt. A large planter in the black fields across the Mississippi from Memphis, said the cotton acreage was dwindling and not likely to increase for many reasons. Southwestern growers can weed and harvest cotton by machine at a rate ruinousiy low for cotton belt producers.

Arkansas is trying to adopt a mixed economy, with manufacturing and processing absorbing home labor hitherto dependent on farming and for meagre rewards at that. Thus far, there is little "industry" and the wages are low. In 38 of her 75 counties, there are fewer than 500 "industrial" jobs per county. There are only 80,000 such jobs in the whole state and the average wage in 1954 was only $54. Newspapers urgently insist that the state needs more "industry" to encourage natives to stay home.

In this respect, Arkansas probably is the most laggard of the southern states, but a great economic revolution has been going on across the south for years, largely devoted to war business in the first place. It will continue until the north and east have lost their old advantage over the field-hand population of the denim country. That does not mean that all the southern operators will be "fugitives" from the harassments of union agents, pickets and lawyers and the harsh laws of the north and east. There is a great net growth of "industry" for the whole country and much of it is found in the south.

Inevitably, the unions shove their frontiers ahead as factories of many kinds rise in virgin territory. Inevitably, when unions move into new country there is resistace from the governing element and, for that matter, from workers, too, who are unaccustomed to coercion and all the personal nastiness of picket activity, especially at the homes of non-joiners and nonstrikers. But the unions always win and already in the south, Alabama has a governor as partial to unions as any governor Michign ever had. Orval Faubus, of Arkansas, attended Commonwealth College, a Communist school. He is a radical Democrat. Texas had a hard time standing off the CIO in last year's election, and the fight in Louisiana was won by the regular Democrats by a narrow margin. Many orthodox southern Democrats place their hopes in Eisenhower only because the AFL-CIO and other elements of this revolutionary invasion of their homeland oppose him.

With all the experience of the north available for study and personally known to many southerners, the resistance against the unions still follows futile lines. The Fort Lauderdale News, noting the immensity of the political union movement with its immeasurable political slush funds, nevertheless refers to the union political bosses as "leaders" and solemniy warns "business men and others" to support their own trade associations, which, of course, are useless in this strife.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Aggressive Bid Rests On Trump

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Bridge writers are always advising us to bid aggressively when we have good distribution," writes a San Francisco correspondent. "Don't these writers ever get caught in the meat grinder? How do they stay out of trouble with a hand like the accompanying tragedy?

"I big four spades with the hand, got doubled, and went down three tricks like a little man. The defenders took two clubs and the ace of diamonds, after which East eventually got three trump tricks. Even when it was all over, I still didn't know where things had gone wrong. How does this differ from the kind of hand in which you bid aggressively?"

The difference is very simple. You bid aggressively with good distribution when you have a sound trump suit. You act cautiously with a weak trump suit.

In this hand South knows that he has a bad spade suit. Furthermore, he knows that he has forced North to choose between hearts and spades, and that North is almost surely showing a preference with two spades and two hearts. North might even have two small spades, with an ace elsewhere.

If North had some three-card holding in spades, he would support spades early instead of bidding two no-trump. Moreover, if North had a hand that was obviously useful for play at spades, he would jump to four spades instead of bidding only three spades.

Strangely enough, the value of a sound trump suit is shown if South plays the hand at hearts instead of spades. If West begins by taking top clubs and the ace of diamonds, South will draw trumps and get back to dummy with the ace of spades to win 10 tricks! In fact, as the cards lie, South will make four hearts unless West hammers away at the diamonds in order to weaken declarer's trump command.

Eggheads Needed

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — Kenneth Harris, local artist, says Norfolk needs dreamers and eggheads (intellectuals). He described Thomas Jefferson as a "real egghead." Harris told the Lions Club that civilization as we know it is based on the reveries of dreamers but that in the last hundred years "We have decided it is not safe to place our trust in a band of dreamers." He spoke of anti-intellectuals as a basic defect in American society.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Aggressive Bid Rests On Trump

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Bridge writers are always advising us to bid aggressively when we have good distribution," writes a San Francisco correspondent. "Don't these writers ever get caught in the meat grinder? How do they stay out of trouble with a hand like the accompanying tragedy?

"I big four spades with the hand, got doubled, and went down three tricks like a little man. The defenders took two clubs and the ace of diamonds, after which East eventually got three trump tricks. Even when it was all over, I still didn't know where things had gone wrong. How does this differ from the kind of hand in which you bid aggressively?"

The difference is very simple. You bid aggressively with good distribution when you have a sound trump suit. You act cautiously with a weak trump suit.

In this hand South knows that he has a bad spade suit. Furthermore, he knows that he has forced North to choose between hearts and spades, and that North is almost surely showing a preference with two spades and two hearts. North might even have two small spades, with an ace elsewhere.

If North had some three-card holding in spades, he would support spades early instead of bidding two no-trump. Moreover, if North had a hand that was obviously useful for play at spades, he would jump to four spades instead of bidding only three spades.

Strangely enough, the value of a sound trump suit is shown if South plays the hand at hearts instead of spades. If West begins by taking top clubs and the ace of diamonds, South will draw trumps and get back to dummy with the ace of spades to win 10 tricks! In fact, as the cards lie, South will make four hearts unless West hammers away at the diamonds in order to weaken declarer's trump command.

Eggheads Needed

Norfolk, Va. (AP) — Kenneth Harris, local artist, says Norfolk needs dreamers and eggheads (intellectuals). He described Thomas Jefferson as a "real egghead." Harris told the Lions Club that civilization as we know it is based on the reveries of dreamers but that in the last hundred years "We have decided it is not safe to place our trust in a band of dreamers." He spoke of anti-intellectuals as a basic defect in American society.

Results obtained by painting over wallpaper are not perfect, but if you don't care you can save yourself a lot of trouble by doing it. Test the colorfastness of the paper by rubbing with a damp cloth. If it's not colorfast, apply a coat of thinned shellac and let it dry three hours before painting.

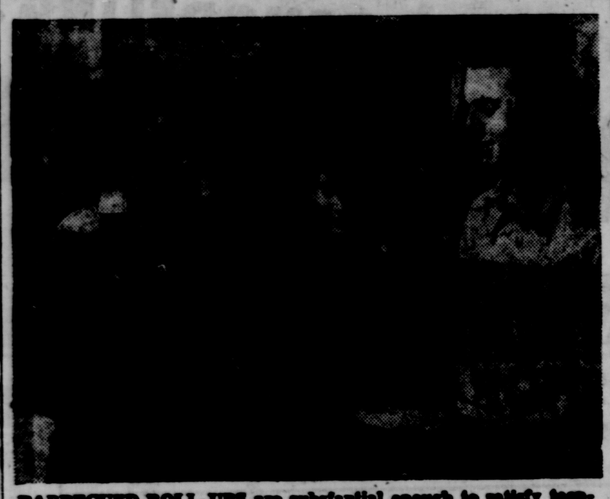
Barbecued Roll-Ups Are Texas Teeners' Favorites



BARBECUED ROLL-UPS are substantial enough to satisfy teen-agers' appetites and delicious enough to make them yell "more."

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Three teen-agers in Lockhart, Tex., gave us some hot news about picnics. Because of the climate they can picnic outdoors almost the year round. They report that barbecued meat rolls in frankfurter buns really "send" them.

Our Texas teens, Judy Lancaster, Patsy Kelley and Rob Hewlett, added that they found that the barbecued meat rolls in buns teamed well with baked pinto beans, raw relishes, bakers individual pies and soft drinks.

Texas Barbecued Roll-Ups

One and one-half pounds ground beef, ½ pound ground lean pork, 1 cup dry bread crumbs, ½ cup milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¼ cup chopped onion, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ cup catsup, ¼ cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon chili powder, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 10 frankfurter buns, sliced.

Combine beef, pork, dry bread crumbs, milk, beaten egg, onion and salt. Using ⅓ cup meat mixture, form it into rolls about 7 inches long. Place rolls into a greased, flat baking dish. Combine catsup, vinegar, water, chili powder, mustard and Worcestershire sauce in a small saucepan. Heat to boiling and pour over meat rolls. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour. To serve: insert a hot meat roll in each sliced bun.

Good eating and not fussy to fix. The meat can be baked at home in mother's kitchen and carried to the picnic spot, or if can be cooked in a covered skillet over a slow outdoor fire.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Texas barbecued roll-ups, baked pinto beans, raw carrot and cucumber sticks, huckleberry pie, cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

Grandval Faces Task

Paris, July 7 (AP)—Gilbert Grandval flew to his new post as French resident general of the terror-ridden North African protectorate of Morocco today. Grandval, 51, has spent nearly 10 years in the delicate job of top French representative in the Saar, the autonomous German-speaking border territory which France wants to keep detached from Germany. His new task is even harder—to bring peace to a country where fanatical nationalists and equally fanatical French colonists trade bombings and murders daily.

SWEETY PIE By Nadine Seltzer

"Look, Mrs. Jones—I gave Elizabeth a haircut just like mine!"

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Although the readers have not as yet mentioned anything about the name "North Haven" for part of the Ponckhockie section as I gave it in "A Century of Sundays" coverage of Mrs. Helen Elmendorf Partlan article. She dropped me a line to make it clearer from which I quote: "North Haven" was a name, not applied to 'Kingston, Rondout and Ponckhockie,' but only to this part of Ponckhockie, the flat plateau from Tompkins street east to Lindsley avenue, (at School No. 4). Also, it was Ponckhockie before, as well as after, North Haven." Mrs. Partlan did a very detailed report on the history of Ponckhockie and the Sunday school, in her little pamphlet and I am sure all those who have received it at the church or otherwise obtained it will read it carefully. Such items should be placed in an old Bible or somewhere where they will be found in later years to be enjoyed by folks who then will be residents of that section.

The local post office sent me a letter which was addressed to them from a Miss Nellie J. Tomlinson, RFD 1, Hudson. It seems in looking through some old newspapers she ran across, guess what, Yes, our famous "Ulster County Gazette" published in Kingston in 1800 the Jan. 4 issue in which the description of George Washington's funeral is given. As she enclosed a stamp, I sent her some information on it and told her that many copies are around the country, with two original so far in existance, one at the Congressional Library in Washington, D. C.

Also that she could see copies at our Senate House Museum and our Public Library. I think there is also a copy of a very good issue down at Dr. Allan J. Segal's optometrist office at 42 Broadway. He has it under double glass right in the window. Dr. Segal is not from Kingston, but is interested in such local historical items. Also in his other window is a very interesting display of old eyeglasses with the dates when they were worn, so if you want to see what your father's father wore and his father to read by kerosene light and candle-light Dr. Segal has them. It is the former Dr. Sam Stern's office in Rondout.

From time to time I am asked about a popcorn stand which used to operate uptown. I understand there was one on the corner of Main and Fair streets, near the church, run by Mr. Rockwell. I ran across following item in the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, Sept. 21, 1923: "Mr. E. Egoroff of Benedictine Hospital ran into it to avoid hitting man coming from rear of it. He agreed to pay for damage caused the popcorn stand." I wonder how many folks remember the peanut stand the Kingsburg Brothers ran on the Strand. Those were the days of a big bag of peanuts for five cents. There also was the hurdy-gurdy man with the monkey and his little red hat and pocket for the pennies. In those days, spring came with Mr. Edwards coming out with his sprinkling wagon on hot dusty days, the summer trolley cars were also a pleasant sight to see. I remember in New York city, in some of the downtown streets you could buy delicious foods from street venders, hot corn with butter, hot chestnuts, all sorts of pickles, hot dogs and knishes, and hamburgs.

Union Center

Union Center, July 6—Norman Gaston of Taunton, Mass., spent the weekend with Herbert Schultz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daum, Sr., of East Orange, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Kutzmann of Irvington, N. J., were the holiday guests of William Daum, Jr. and family.

On July 15 the local Cubs will have their meeting at the home of Dennis Markle.

George Hard spent the weekend at his home.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Although the readers have not as yet mentioned anything about the name "North Haven" for part of the Ponckhockie section as I gave it in "A Century of Sundays" coverage of Mrs. Helen Elmendorf Partlan article. She dropped me a line to make it clearer from which I quote: "North Haven" was a name, not applied to 'Kingston, Rondout and Ponckhockie,' but only to this part of Ponckhockie, the flat plateau from Tompkins street east to Lindsley avenue, (at School No. 4). Also, it was Ponckhockie before, as well as after, North Haven." Mrs. Partlan did a very detailed report on the history of Ponckhockie and the Sunday school, in her little pamphlet and I am sure all those who have received it at the church or otherwise obtained it will read it carefully. Such items should be placed in an old Bible or somewhere where they will be found in later years to be enjoyed by folks who then will be residents of that section.

The local post office sent me a letter which was addressed to them from a Miss Nellie J. Tomlinson, RFD 1, Hudson. It seems in looking through some old newspapers she ran across, guess what, Yes, our famous "Ulster County Gazette" published in Kingston in 1800 the Jan. 4 issue in which the description of George Washington's funeral is given. As she enclosed a stamp, I sent her some information on it and told her that many copies are around the country, with two original so far in existance, one at the Congressional Library in Washington, D. C.

Also that she could see copies at our Senate House Museum and our Public Library. I think there is also a copy of a very good issue down at Dr. Allan J. Segal's optometrist office at 42 Broadway. He has it under double glass right in the window. Dr. Segal is not from Kingston, but is interested in such local historical items. Also in his other window is a very interesting display of old eyeglasses with the dates when they were worn, so if you want to see what your father's father wore and his father to read by kerosene light and candle-light Dr. Segal has them. It is the former Dr. Sam Stern's office in Rondout.

From time to time I am asked about a popcorn stand which used to operate uptown. I understand there was one on the corner of Main and Fair streets, near the church, run by Mr. Rockwell. I ran across following item in the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Friday, Sept. 21, 1923: "Mr. E. Egoroff of Benedictine Hospital ran into it to avoid hitting man coming from rear of it. He agreed to pay for damage caused the popcorn stand." I wonder how many folks remember the peanut stand the Kingsburg Brothers ran on the Strand. Those were the days of a big bag of peanuts for five cents. There also was the hurdy-gurdy man with the monkey and his little red hat and pocket for the pennies. In those days, spring came with Mr. Edwards coming out with his sprinkling wagon on hot dusty days, the summer trolley cars were also a pleasant sight to see. I remember in New York city, in some of the downtown streets you could buy delicious foods from street venders, hot corn with butter, hot chestnuts, all sorts of pickles, hot dogs and knishes, and hamburgs.

Papers Indicate Drowned Man Is New Paltz Farmer

The body of a man was recovered from the Rondout Creek on Ferry street, just off The Freeman parking lot at 11:27 a. m., today.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said this afternoon he was unable to determine positive identification, but, from papers on the body, tentatively identified the man as Walter Tierney of New Paltz.

THE CORONER issued a description of white, 22 to 23 years of age, brown hair, blue eyes, about five feet, seven inches, and weighing between 148 and 150 pounds.

He said he believed the man was a farm workers since he carried a registration for a farm vehicle. Coroner McCardle said it appeared the man had been in the water approximately three or four days. He carried no money on his person.

NO DEATH verdict would be issued, the coroner said, until positive identification had been established.

Neither the sheriff's office or police headquarters reported a missing person answering the victim's description.

June Employment Record

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a news conference today that employment rose in June to a new high. At the same time, Mitchell said, the June employment figures to be released in detail tomorrow will show a "smaller than seasonal rise in unemployment." This, he said, will result in a seasonably adjusted unemployment level which would be the lowest in one and one-half years.

Three Cars Collide, None Are Injured

A three-car accident on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough about 8:30 p. m. yesterday damaged the vehicles but caused no personal injuries, according to Highland State Police.

Involved in the collision were a 1949 sedan, operated by Anthony J. Kartis, 36, of Newburgh, a 1948 panel truck, owned by Sam Policano of 67 South Robinson avenue, Newburgh, operated by Gaetano Amodeo, 23, of Marlborough, and a 1948 rack-body truck owned by William McLaughlin of Marlborough, driven by Joseph T. Powers, 49, of 225 Robinson avenue, Newburgh.

Troopers said the panel truck, traveling south, swerved into the sedan while attempting to avoid a collision with the rack-body truck which was pulling from a curb. The panel truck struck the sedan in the left front, glanced off and struck the rack-body truck, they reported. Trooper E. N. Buffett investigated.

Attack Won't Halt Work

Rock Island, Ill. (AP) — If an enemy attacks the Rock Island area, 6,500 employes of the Rock Island Arsenal will burrow underground and pass up evacuation, Capt. Charles R. Fish of the arsenal staff says. He told a conference of Civil Defense leaders that "production of war material in the shops must not be curtailed in time of war." The arsenal is situated on an island in the Mississippi river.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank all my friends and neighbors for their kindness during my late father's sickness and death. Also for the beautiful floral pieces and baskets.

Signed
WILLIAM M. O'CONNELL.

House Group Votes Minimum Wage Boost

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The House Labor Committee today voted 21-9 to boost the federal minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour next March 1.

The committee defeated by a 15-15 tie vote a Republican proposal to put the minimum wage level at 90 cents, the figure requested by President Eisenhower.

The President only yesterday placed minimum wage legislation near the top of his list of things he would like Congress to complete before adjournment planned now for July 30, and reiterated his support for the 90 cent figure.

Zone Hearings Set for Tonight

Two public hearings to discuss zoning of certain properties in Kingston will be held today by the laws and rules committee of the Common Council at 7 p. m. in the council chambers at city hall.

Properties seeking zoning are the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue, from residential to business, land on First avenue near the city line from residential to business and a considerable tract of land on Albany avenue near Foxhall avenue from residential to business.

A second hearing at 7:30 p. m., will be for the discussion of zoning property, owned by Alex Parnett, Lucas avenue and Miller's Lane, from business to residential.

Alderman Abram Relyea is chairman of the laws and rules committee which is composed of Aldermen-at-large Joseph Kelly, William Bodenweber, Edwin Radel and Joseph Wenzel.

Check Rubbish Fire

Firemen answered an alarm at 1:05 p. m., today in a frame barn, at the rear of 322 Albany avenue, owned by Melville W. Powers. Rubbish had caught fire in a corner of the building. Engine 3, Truck 2 of Wiltwyck, and Engine 4 of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company responded.

European Monkeys

Gibraltar is the only place in Europe where wild monkeys are found. They live among the rocks and sport about in almost inaccessible heights.

Buffalo Still Without Buses

Buffalo, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—About 200,000 communters faced another day without buses today as talks between striking bus drivers and the Niagara Frontier Transit System remained deadlocked.

The feuding factions were scheduled to huddle again today, and Mayor Steven Pankow said if no settlement was reached, he would call a conference of the city law department to map a course for returning the buses to the streets.

THE UNION yesterday turned down a cost of living escalator clause proposed by the Transit Company, and later, a union spokesman said, the company rejected a union proposal for arbitration.

But Roswell F. Thoma, president of the NFT, said that an arbitration suggestion had not been made.

THE STRIKE of Division 1342, AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employes, has left a population area of one million without buses since last Friday. The Transit System serves Buffalo, Niagara Falls and several adjoining suburban areas.

Company spokesmen said yesterday the sliding wage scale offer would be based on the index issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. They said it would be in addition to the company's offer of a five-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Check Reveals No Barge on Fire

Report of a boat or barge on fire on the Hyde Park side of the Hudson river shortly before midnight led deputies of the Ulster county sheriff's office on a merry chase up and down the river in a local powerboat but without result.

Deputies Chester Wolven and Fred Brinkman cruised the Hudson from Kingston to Poughkeepsie and back in a boat provided by Cleon Jump of the Kingston Power Boat Association.

They reported nothing that looked like a barge afire. They did discover a brush fire on the east bank of the river just north of Poughkeepsie, however. The Dutchess county sheriff's office was notified.

Julie and Dux DeJohn make their long swings on the road happy times by cooking in their room. On their stp in Kansas City a few weeks ago, a hotel clerk spotted a half-gallon bottle of olive oil looming suspiciously from their luggage.

"Are you girls planning to cook in your room?" he asked darkly.

"Oh, no," said Julie. "There's whiskey in that bottle. We're going to get drunk."

"O.K.," said the clerk, "but don't let me catch you cooking."

Two beautiful girls sat down and debated the proposition, "Resolved: That being beautiful helps a girl in the songwriting profession." The two know whereof they speak, for they are successful songwriters. Yellow-haired Gladys Shelly and pink-haired Jerry Whitman are currently represented by the exciting song, "Experience Unnecessary," which is Sarah Vaughan's coming hit.

Miss Shelley, accompanied by a Chihuahua named Debussy, attacked the proposition. Miss Whitman, who owns a boxer named Schnaps, had this to say about the relationship between good looks and songwriting success:

"It hasn't hurt."

But Miss Shelley felt it has so hurt.

"Songwriting is a tough business," she said. "To get anywhere, the customary thing for a man songwriter to do is 'romance' the A & R boys."

(Time out for translation—A & R boys are the directors of artists and repertoire at each record company, who make the decisions about what songs will be recorded. Time back in.)

"They take them out for weekends in the country, they take them to the fights or the ball games. They buy them presents. Well, I ask you, can Jerry or I do that? We can't 'romance' these guys. Our songs have to speak for themselves."

Jerry didn't say much. Gladys proceeded to point two.

"Another thing. There's the danger. Bound to run into some guy who thinks he a Romeo. Right, Jerry?"

Jerry agreed that that was correct. Danger sometimes creeps around Tin Pan Alley in suede shoes, just waiting for a pretty songwriter. Gladys carried on.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 7 (AP)—The stock market declined today, but buying that came in late in the morning pulled many shares up from their lows and sent some leaders to good advances.

General Motors, up $14.37 a share yesterday on news of a stock split, opened today on a 35,000-share block down $1.75 at $126 but later recovered nearly all the loss. Du Pont, which owns 22.6 per cent of GM's common shares, opened on 2,300 shares at $241.50, down $4.75, and then improved.

Chrysler was a strong spot, moving up briskly in active trading. Olin Mathieson advanced easily. Standard Oil (N.J.) was ahead $3 at one time.

New York, July 7 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Papers Indicate Drowned Man Is New Paltz Farmer

The body of a man was recovered from the Rondout Creek on Ferry street, just off The Freeman parking lot at 11:27 a. m., today.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle said this afternoon he was unable to determine positive identification, but, from papers on the body, tentatively identified the man as Walter Tierney of New Paltz.

THE CORONER issued a description of white, 22 to 23 years of age, brown hair, blue eyes, about five feet, seven inches, and weighing between 148 and 150 pounds.

He said he believed the man was a farm workers since he carried a registration for a farm vehicle. Coroner McCardle said it appeared the man had been in the water approximately three or four days. He carried no money on his person.

NO DEATH verdict would be issued, the coroner said, until positive identification had been established.

Neither the sheriff's office or police headquarters reported a missing person answering the victim's description.

This, he said, will result in a seasonably adjusted unemployment level which would be the lowest in one and one-half years.

Three Cars Collide, None Are Injured

A three-car accident on Route 9W in the village of Marlborough about 8:30 p. m. yesterday damaged the vehicles but caused no personal injuries, according to Highland State Police.

Involved in the collision were a 1949 sedan, operated by Anthony J. Kartis, 36, of Newburgh, a 1948 panel truck, owned by Sam Policano of 67 South Robinson avenue, Newburgh, operated by Gaetano Amodeo, 23, of Marlborough, and a 1948 rack-body truck owned by William McLaughlin of Marlborough, driven by Joseph T. Powers, 49, of 225 Robinson avenue, Newburgh.

Troopers said the panel truck, traveling south, swerved into the sedan while attempting to avoid a collision with the rack-body truck which was pulling from a curb. The panel truck struck the sedan in the left front, glanced off and struck the rack-body truck, they reported. Trooper E. N. Buffett investigated.

House Group Votes Minimum Wage Boost

Washington, July 7 (AP)—The House Labor Committee today voted 21-9 to boost the federal minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour next March 1.

The committee defeated by a 15-15 tie vote a Republican proposal to put the minimum wage level at 90 cents, the figure requested by President Eisenhower.

The President only yesterday placed minimum wage legislation near the top of his list of things he would like Congress to complete before adjournment planned now for July 30, and reiterated his support for the 90 cent figure.

Zone Hearings Set for Tonight

Two public hearings to discuss zoning of certain properties in Kingston will be held today by the laws and rules committee of the Common Council at 7 p. m. in the council chambers at city hall.

Properties seeking zoning are the YWCA, 209 Clinton avenue, from residential to business, land on First avenue near the city line from residential to business and a considerable tract of land on Albany avenue near Foxhall avenue from residential to business.

A second hearing at 7:30 p. m., will be for the discussion of zoning property, owned by Alex Parnett, Lucas avenue and Miller's Lane, from business to residential.

Alderman Abram Relyea is chairman of the laws and rules committee which is composed of Aldermen-at-large Joseph Kelly, William Bodenweber, Edwin Radel and Joseph Wenzel.

Check Rubbish Fire

Firemen answered an alarm at 1:05 p. m., today in a frame barn, at the rear of 322 Albany avenue, owned by Melville W. Powers. Rubbish had caught fire in a corner of the building. Engine 3, Truck 2 of Wiltwyck, and Engine 4 of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company responded.

European Monkeys

Gibraltar is the only place in Europe where wild monkeys are found. They live among the rocks and sport about in almost inaccessible heights.

Buffalo Still Without Buses

Buffalo, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—About 200,000 communters faced another day without buses today as talks between striking bus drivers and the Niagara Frontier Transit System remained deadlocked.

The feuding factions were scheduled to huddle again today, and Mayor Steven Pankow said if no settlement was reached, he would call a conference of the city law department to map a course for returning the buses to the streets.

THE UNION yesterday turned down a cost of living escalator clause proposed by the Transit Company, and later, a union spokesman said, the company rejected a union proposal for arbitration.

But Roswell F. Thoma, president of the NFT, said that an arbitration suggestion had not been made.

THE STRIKE of Division 1342, AFL Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motorcoach Employes, has left a population area of one million without buses since last Friday. The Transit System serves Buffalo, Niagara Falls and several adjoining suburban areas.

Company spokesmen said yesterday the sliding wage scale offer would be based on the index issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. They said it would be in addition to the company's offer of a five-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Check Reveals No Barge on Fire

Report of a boat or barge on fire on the Hyde Park side of the Hudson river shortly before midnight led deputies of the Ulster county sheriff's office on a merry chase up and down the river in a local powerboat but without result.

Deputies Chester Wolven and Fred Brinkman cruised the Hudson from Kingston to Poughkeepsie and back in a boat provided by Cleon Jump of the Kingston Power Boat Association.

They reported nothing that looked like a barge afire. They did discover a brush fire on the east bank of the river just north of Poughkeepsie, however. The Dutchess county sheriff's office was notified.

Julie and Dux DeJohn make their long swings on the road happy times by cooking in their room. On their stp in Kansas City a few weeks ago, a hotel clerk spotted a half-gallon bottle of olive oil looming suspiciously from their luggage.

"Are you girls planning to cook in your room?" he asked darkly.

"Oh, no," said Julie. "There's whiskey in that bottle. We're going to get drunk."

"O.K.," said the clerk, "but don't let me catch you cooking."

Two beautiful girls sat down and debated the proposition, "Resolved: That being beautiful helps a girl in the songwriting profession." The two know whereof they speak, for they are successful songwriters. Yellow-haired Gladys Shelly and pink-haired Jerry Whitman are currently represented by the exciting song, "Experience Unnecessary," which is Sarah Vaughan's coming hit.

Miss Shelley, accompanied by a Chihuahua named Debussy, attacked the proposition. Miss Whitman, who owns a boxer named Schnaps, had this to say about the relationship between good looks and songwriting success:

"It hasn't hurt."

But Miss Shelley felt it has so hurt.

"Songwriting is a tough business," she said. "To get anywhere, the customary thing for a man songwriter to do is 'romance' the A & R boys."

(Time out for translation—A & R boys are the directors of artists and repertoire at each record company, who make the decisions about what songs will be recorded. Time back in.)

"They take them out for weekends in the country, they take them to the fights or the ball games. They buy them presents. Well, I ask you, can Jerry or I do that? We can't 'romance' these guys. Our songs have to speak for themselves."

Jerry didn't say much. Gladys proceeded to point two.

"Another thing. There's the danger. Bound to run into some guy who thinks he a Romeo. Right, Jerry?"

Jerry agreed that that was correct. Danger sometimes creeps around Tin Pan Alley in suede shoes, just waiting for a pretty songwriter. Gladys carried on.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 7 (AP)—The stock market declined today, but buying that came in late in the morning pulled many shares up from their lows and sent some leaders to good advances.

General Motors, up $14.37 a share yesterday on news of a stock split, opened today on a 35,000-share block down $1.75 at $126 but later recovered nearly all the loss. Du Pont, which owns 22.6 per cent of GM's common shares, opened on 2,300 shares at $241.50, down $4.75, and then improved.

Chrysler was a strong spot, moving up briskly in active trading. Olin Mathieson advanced easily. Standard Oil (N.J.) was ahead $3 at one time.

Mayor Wagner Returns

New York, July 7 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner returned today from a 32-day tour of Europe and Israel and said cities he visited everywhere have the same problems as those in New York—housing, traffic, parking and finances. The mayor, his wife and a party of nine, arrived on the liner Independence from Naples. Wagner said he felt the trip was profitable, in that he learned some municipal techniques. Also he said consular and other U. S. officials in cities he visited told him the tour was helpful toward cementing international relations.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

The giving away of Joe Doaks' property to foreigners has become a fixed policy. So now the Government has set up what is called the I.C.A.—International Cooperation Association. It's only a change in name,—more of the Marshall Plan, under a permanent bureau, to hand it out from a fat administrative fund. It could be called the B.O.P.—Bureau of Prodigality—waste!

Mr. Hutton

It's really fascinating to see the Joe Doaks' resources dissipated — somewhat as a wounded man stares at the blood spurting from his own arteries. And our glorified and magnified New Dealer's bureaucracy isn't bothered in the least, watching our resource 90-cent dollars going to other politicians in foreign lands.

This pattern was set by a gang of leftwing liberals, who seemed to consider America last —not first. Yet, what a great country we have! But can Mary and Joe Doaks keep it?

It seems to me the Republican party is following the Dealer's pattern — giving away billions each year that they do not have, and cannot raise in taxes. It's no wonder that white men—brown, and yellow barbarians gaze across the wide ocean at this land with watering mouths. What a land! What a people to plunder!

P. S. What would you do, Hutton? Darned if I know.

Evidence

Richmond, Va. (AP)—A woman arrested on a charge of public drunkeness was brought into court several hours later. Asked if she was still drunk she replied: "Hic — certainly not." "That's the most damaging testimony I've ever heard," remarked Trial Justice R. Dixon Powers. "Ten dollars and costs."

New Boom

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

The giving away of Joe Doaks' property to foreigners has become a fixed policy. So now the Government has set up what is called the I.C.A.—International Cooperation Association. It's only a change in name,—more of the Marshall Plan, under a permanent bureau, to hand it out from a fat administrative fund. It could be called the B.O.P.—Bureau of Prodigality—waste!

Mr. Hutton

It's really fascinating to see the Joe Doaks' resources dissipated — somewhat as a wounded man stares at the blood spurting from his own arteries. And our glorified and magnified New Dealer's bureaucracy isn't bothered in the least, watching our resource 90-cent dollars going to other politicians in foreign lands.

This pattern was set by a gang of leftwing liberals, who seemed to consider America last —not first. Yet, what a great country we have! But can Mary and Joe Doaks keep it?

It seems to me the Republican party is following the Dealer's pattern — giving away billions each year that they do not have, and cannot raise in taxes. It's no wonder that white men—brown, and yellow barbarians gaze across the wide ocean at this land with watering mouths. What a land! What a people to plunder!

P. S. What would you do, Hutton? Darned if I know.

One of Every Three Highway Miles in U.S. Regarded as Unsafe

Driving Becoming More Hazardous, Costly, Is Report

New York, July 7 (AP)—Americans will buy more cars this year than ever before. But driving on the nation's highways promises to become more uncomfortable, more hazardous and more costly.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Road reports 3,366,000 miles of roads in the entire country. But, says the government agency, only 919,000 miles of highway or one-fourth the total are paved.

The American Automobile Assn. claims one of every three miles of highways is unsafe for driving.

Most American roads were built 20 years ago or more, when the automobile was still considered a luxury and the economy was at a much lower level than now.

At the end of the 1930's there were less than 31 million vehicles and road travel amounted to about 270 billion vehicle-miles (number of vehicles multiplied by miles they traveled). Gross national product (total goods and services produced) averaged about 80 billion dollars a year.

TODAY WE HAVE 58 million vehicles traveling 557 billion vehicle-miles a year. Modern cars and trucks are heavier and wider than their predecessors. The gross national product is up to 357 billion dollars. Yet we are spending less for new roads now than we did in the 1930s.

More Americans die in highway accidents than U. S. soldiers in battle. With the exception of the gas rationing periods during World War 2, between 30,000 and 40,000 persons have been killed on the highways every year for the past 22 years, reports the National Safety Council.

The traffic death toll in 1954 was 36,300. If traffic volume increases by 50 per cent in the next 10 years, as estimated, accidents at the present rate will take 55,000 lives a year.

SOME TRAFFIC specialists claim that highway accidents could be drasticaly reduced by improving our roads. Carl Fritts, vice president, Automotive Safety Foundation, has said that one life would be saved every year for every 10 miles of construction in improving roads.

Good highways are essential to the farmer. More than half of all fruits and vegetables arrive at wholesale markets in cities and towns via trucks on the highway. Three out of every four livestock shipments move by truck. Of all farm products, nearly all spend some time on the nation's highways before reaching the dinner table.

GOOD HIGHWAYS are vital for national defense, too. President Eisenhower has said, "in case of an atomic attack on our key cities, the road net must permit quick evacuation of target areas, mobilization of defense forces and maintenance of every essential economic function. But the present system in critical areas would be a breeder of deadly congestion within hours of attack."

The President's advisory committee on highways has called for modernizing the interstate highway system over the next 10 years. This would involve improving a 40,000 mile network linking 42 state capitals and 90 per cent of all cities of 50,000 population or more. It would serve 65 per cent of all urban and 45 per cent of rural population.

Will Check Intersection

Albany, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—The State Public Works Department is looking into what the governor of Connecticut describes as a "hazardous situation" at a Camp Drum intersection where four national guardsmen were killed June 26. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff appealed to Supt. John W. Johnson yesterday to review the situation and take "necessary corrective measures." The four soldiers from the Waterbury, Conn., area died when their automobile crashed into a tree 200 yards from a camp entrance.

Gets Death Sentence

Duesseldorf, Germany, July 7 (AP)—A British court-martial today sentenced Sgt. Frederick Emmett-Dunne, 33, to be hanged for murdering a fellow Briton whose pretty German widow he later wed. The victim was Sgt. Reginald Watters, 30. He was found hanging from a banister in a British army barracks at Duisburg, Germany, Nov. 30, 1953, under circumstances suggesting suicide.

That's when the girl told her story to the operator on duty at the public telephone center. The operator called the girl's father. He said he'd send a messenger with some money. But . . .

By the time the messenger arrived at the railroad station the train was gone—and the girl was on it. The money for her ticket, and a little more besides, had been advanced by the operator, out of her own pocket.

One of Every Three Highway Miles in U.S. Regarded as Unsafe

Driving Becoming More Hazardous, Costly, Is Report

New York, July 7 (AP)—Americans will buy more cars this year than ever before. But driving on the nation's highways promises to become more uncomfortable, more hazardous and more costly.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Road reports 3,366,000 miles of roads in the entire country. But, says the government agency, only 919,000 miles of highway or one-fourth the total are paved.

The American Automobile Assn. claims one of every three miles of highways is unsafe for driving.

Most American roads were built 20 years ago or more, when the automobile was still considered a luxury and the economy was at a much lower level than now.

At the end of the 1930's there were less than 31 million vehicles and road travel amounted to about 270 billion vehicle-miles (number of vehicles multiplied by miles they traveled). Gross national product (total goods and services produced) averaged about 80 billion dollars a year.

TODAY WE HAVE 58 million vehicles traveling 557 billion vehicle-miles a year. Modern cars and trucks are heavier and wider than their predecessors. The gross national product is up to 357 billion dollars. Yet we are spending less for new roads now than we did in the 1930s.

More Americans die in highway accidents than U. S. soldiers in battle. With the exception of the gas rationing periods during World War 2, between 30,000 and 40,000 persons have been killed on the highways every year for the past 22 years, reports the National Safety Council.

The traffic death toll in 1954 was 36,300. If traffic volume increases by 50 per cent in the next 10 years, as estimated, accidents at the present rate will take 55,000 lives a year.

SOME TRAFFIC specialists claim that highway accidents could be drasticaly reduced by improving our roads. Carl Fritts, vice president, Automotive Safety Foundation, has said that one life would be saved every year for every 10 miles of construction in improving roads.

Good highways are essential to the farmer. More than half of all fruits and vegetables arrive at wholesale markets in cities and towns via trucks on the highway. Three out of every four livestock shipments move by truck. Of all farm products, nearly all spend some time on the nation's highways before reaching the dinner table.

GOOD HIGHWAYS are vital for national defense, too. President Eisenhower has said, "in case of an atomic attack on our key cities, the road net must permit quick evacuation of target areas, mobilization of defense forces and maintenance of every essential economic function. But the present system in critical areas would be a breeder of deadly congestion within hours of attack."

The President's advisory committee on highways has called for modernizing the interstate highway system over the next 10 years. This would involve improving a 40,000 mile network linking 42 state capitals and 90 per cent of all cities of 50,000 population or more. It would serve 65 per cent of all urban and 45 per cent of rural population.

Will Check Intersection

Albany, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—The State Public Works Department is looking into what the governor of Connecticut describes as a "hazardous situation" at a Camp Drum intersection where four national guardsmen were killed June 26. Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff appealed to Supt. John W. Johnson yesterday to review the situation and take "necessary corrective measures." The four soldiers from the Waterbury, Conn., area died when their automobile crashed into a tree 200 yards from a camp entrance.

Gets Death Sentence

Duesseldorf, Germany, July 7 (AP)—A British court-martial today sentenced Sgt. Frederick Emmett-Dunne, 33, to be hanged for murdering a fellow Briton whose pretty German widow he later wed. The victim was Sgt. Reginald Watters, 30. He was found hanging from a banister in a British army barracks at Duisburg, Germany, Nov. 30, 1953, under circumstances suggesting suicide.

Schuster Loses New Try on Son's Death

New York, July 7 (AP)—Max Schuster has lost another bid to make the city pay for the death of his son, Arnold, 24, who was slain in 1952 after helping police trap bank robber Willie (The Actor) Sutton.

The appellate division of the State Supreme Court ruled yesterday that there was no claim of contractual liability in the $1,050,000 damage suit, which previously was dismissed by a lower court.

Young Schuster was shot down on a Brooklyn street several weeks after he spotted the fugitive Sutton in a subway and notified police.

Sutton, now serving a life term for a Queens bank robbery, denied any knowledge of the slaying.

Young Schuster was shot down on a Brooklyn street several weeks after he spotted the fugitive Sutton in a subway and notified police.

Sutton, now serving a life term for a Queens bank robbery, denied any knowledge of the slaying.

SPEAKING TO STRANGERS

A typical question asked at this season of the year is this one. "When taking a long journey by train, is it permissible to talk to strangers to whom one has not been introduced?"

If you are seated next to someone who responds with friendliness to your greeting, then you may continue to talk, but you should not continue any advances that are not met with definite encouragement.

Who Telephones to Whom?

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me what is proper in the following situation: When a person leaves the city for an extended vacation, is it up to her to call her friends to say goodbye or are they supposed to call her? My understanding has always been that the person leaving calls her friends to say good-bye but that when she returns home her friends are supposed to call and welcome her back. Am I right about this?

Answer: While there is no rule about this, anyone leaving on a vacation would almost certainly tell those of her friends she talks to that she is leaving —and on her return she would have to let them know she is back.

Marking a Gift of Glassware

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct monogram to use on glassware which I intend to give as a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary present. Are the husband's or the wife's initials correct, or a combination of both their initials?

Answer: There's no actual rule, but usually glasses that are set on the dining table are marked with the initials of the wife. Whiskey glasses and cocktail glasses that are served away from the table are marked with his initials.

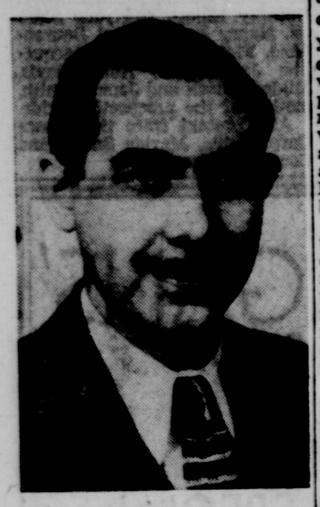
Rabbi Rappaport Is Elected to Rabbinical Body



RABBI RAPPAPORT

The rabbinical group is affiliated with the orthodox movement in the U. S., comprising of close to 500 rabbis throughout the country.

The convention, held June 28 and 29 at Spring Valley, heard a strong plea from Rabbi Jacob Ruderman, dean of Ner Israel Rabbinical College in Baltimore, Md., that the rabbis do their utmost to preserve the traditional structure of the synagogue. Rabbi Ruderman declared the seating of mixed pews as "directly contravening the explicit law, as well as the spirit of the Torah."

Sherwod Lasher of Kingston, Council commissioner of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, announced today that plans formulated by his commissioners' staff call for a record volume of scouting activities throughout Ulster and Greene counties during the coming summer and fall months. Lasher said that these activities began during the July 4 holiday, when Scouting units in the two counties participated in the flag-raising and other patriotic ceremonies.

He said that the plans also call for renewed emphasis on individual advancement in scouting skills and requirements, and that a closer check will be made this summer on the progress of all scouts attending Camp Tri-Mount. Recognition of all advancements to date will be given at Courts of Honor scheduled to be held in all districts during the fall.

IN ADDITION to expanded unit activities during July and August, special Council activities included a Cub Webelos-Dad weekend at Tri-Mount July 2-3, Cub Day at Camp July 9, advancement of honorary Order of the Arrow members to full membership, an advanced training course for Troop Scouters July 16-17, and a weekend training course for Commissioners Aug. 6-9.

In addition, 10 boys of the local council will participate in a Canadian canoe trip during July, while 11 boys and three adult leaders will attend Scouting's huge National Camp Philmont, in New Mexico, during August.

LASHER SAID that all districts are planing early appointments to complete the commissioners' staff as soon as possible, in order that the council's rapidly-expanding membership may be better served.

In his announcement, Lasher also indicated that scouters in all categories are participating in the council's campaign for $27,760, which began July 5. A portion of the money thus raised, he said, will be allocated to furthering additional councilwide and districtwide activities in Cubbing, Exploring, and Boy Scouting. Reports thus far received from all districts indicate that a record number of workers are conducting the Council's annual appeal for operating funds.

Priority . . .

still might be possible to get action at this session on proposals for construction of military housing.

HOWEVER, informed House members have said they thought some sort of a housing bill would be passed by the House, even if public housing is excluded. The housing bill provides for extension of such noncontroversial housing programs as Federal Housing Administration (FHA) home mortgage insurance.

The House has passed a measure generally meeting Eisenhower's request for establishment of a 2,900,000 man military reserve by 1960. Indications are that the measure will be pushed through the Senate speedily.

REPUBLICAN leaders say the President still is pressing for action on his proposal for construction of an atomic-powered ship to display to the world the peaceful uses of atomic energy. Congress has rejected an authorization for the ship but Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor manager, has said it will be revived.

A Senate-House conference committee agreed yesterday on a $3,285,800,000 authorization for foreign aid, a cut of $112,200,000 in Eisenhower's original request. No major difficulty is forseen for an implementing money bill.

School construction and polio vaccine legislation have bogged down with few signs that Congress will act on them finally in this session.

THE SENATE has passed the upper Colorado development bill but it has encountered difficulties in the House. The Senate has voted for a minimum wage of $1 an hour. Eisenhower said yesterday in his proposal for 90 cents "by all odds is now generous." He declined to say what final attitude he would take toward the higher figure if the House okays it too.

Republican leaders have included several other measures on lists of legislation they said the President would like to have passed before Congress quits. Most of these are regarded as of relatively minor importance and not likely to stir up much controversy.

Mob Violence

planned to ask the firm not to unload the vessel.

THAT MEETING broke up when Lyman Conger, counsel for Kohler, stalked out with other company representatives. Conger acted after Associated Press Photographer Dan Nero asked to take a picture of the group before the meeting started.

Conger declared to Mayor Ploetz that Ploetz was "pulling a publicity stunt." Ploetz said later in his opinion the "dramatic walkout is another display of the Kohler Company not wanting to bargain with the union." He added that the vessel "will definitely not be unloaded if it endangers the lives or welfare of the people here."

ROBERT BURKART, international representative of the UAW-CIO, said "we didn't promulgate this thing. It is merely the doings of the mayor and we are willing to go along."

The mayor held a meeting yesterday afternoon with the Kohler representatives at the plant. That meeting produced a statement from the company stating the firm would not try to remove the clay "because of the danger to the lives of the Kohler Co., and the unloading contractor."

Later Ploetz announced that all was quiet on the waterfront, located four blocks from the city's business district.

At Montreal, K. E. Elbert, president of the Sea Lake Shipping Corp., Ltd., agents for the Fossum, said no decision regarding the cargo had been reached.

Charge Dropped

his car and Reilly got into the Park area, and that his automobile and a girl who was with him were taken from the scene.

Reilly pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge June 23 and was fined $5.

AUTHORITIES SAID that Baschnagel complained he was in the car with the girl, Dolores DeLong, of 107 Henry street, when the others came up and molested him. The two arrested, they reported, said "they wanted to have fun" and pulled up behind the car.

Baschnagel got angry and a scuffle followed, they said. After allegedly assaulting Baschnagel, authorities said, Diers got into Diers car, and they both drove away.

THE REPORT said that one of the men put the girl from the car at the Fireside Tavern, West Park, apparently unharmed, but described as "shaken up."

State police located the girl at the West Park tavern, and she was brought to police headquarters where she described the two young men. Detective Clarence Brophy made the arrests June 22.

In court today, Diers was represented by John E. Gotelli, and Attorney James Matthews appeared for the district attorney's office.

Sentenced Third Time

New York, July 7 (AP)—Camilo Leyra Jr., 54, was sentenced today for the third time to die in the electric chair for the bludgeon slaying of his parents. The defendant appeared calm as he faced Judge Hyman Barshay in Kings County Court. The judge denied two defense motions to set aside the verdict of guilty of first-degree murder. "All I can say is that I am innocent," Leyra told the court, who then fixed the week of Aug. 18 for execution. Under the law, an appeal to the state's highest court —the Court of Appeals—is mandatory.

KNOWS HER BIBLE — Mrs. Catherine S. Kreitzer of Camp Hill, Pa., holds the Holy Bible after answering a series of difficult questions worth $32,000 on a television quiz show. She has the option of accepting the money or risking her knowledge of the Bible on a $64,000 question next week.

Lightning Strikes

and a room on the first floor, were heavily damaged. The roof was apparently undamaged.

Mrs. Konen said "one entire end of the house," was practically destroyed. Damage has been tentatively estimated at $2,000. "One whole end must be replaced," according to Mrs. Konen.

RAFTERS were split, boards blown out, walls off, flooring ripped, electric lines destroyed and windows blown out, she reported.

William Weisler, a neighbor, tacked canvas over the side of the Hornbeck home to keep out the rain.

Mrs. Konen, her husband, son and daughter-in-law, were in the Konen home when the bolt struck. She said it knocked out lights and the telephone. Crews from the New York Telephone Co., and the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., managed to restore service during the evening.

Weapon Search

of the convicts, had been turned in.

The guards then announced they had no stomach for the task of conducting an unarmed cell-to-cell search for weapons while the mean tough prisoners remained in the cellblocks they took control of at 9:46 a. m. Tuesday.

They demanded that state patrolmen and National Guard troops be sent in with them on the shakedown and the prisoners ordered out on the compound. Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr., scoffed at their fears and said he was certain the shakedown could be completed without incident.

NINE HOSTAGES held by the prisoners were released when Dr. Thomas Harris, state director of institutions, signed a nine point agreement with five of the 33 toughs who staged the original revolt which eventually embraced half the prison and its 1,700 inmates.

But, the guards said, they had no assurance they wouldn't replace the original hostages or suffer an even worse fate at the hands of angry convicts.

The temper of the inmates in the affected area was not known. It was feared they had heard, however, that Arthur Hawman, Walla Walla cowboy prosecutor, had announced he would prosecute the ringleaders under a new state law.

Hawman said he would ignore promises by Dr. Harris that leniency would be sought for the revolt leaders and bring them into court "just as soon as we obtain all the facts."

$20,000 in Prizes

include Herefords $1,490, Holsteins $1,333, Guernseys $1,300, Jerseys $1,200, and Ayshires $750. Cattle entries close August 12.

FAIR OFICIALS have set aside $5,750 for the 4H Club section.

Another $3,100 will make up the purses in the two-day harness racing meet, Monday and Tuesday, August 29 and 30. There will be three horse shows, with prize lists available from Samuel Bridges, Box 28, Rhinebeck. A Western Frontier show will be an opening day feature, with a pony show Sunday afternoon, and an English show all day Monday.

OTHER CATEGORIES, and the prize money set aside in each, include sheep $750, fruits $750, poultry $400, vegetables $250, and field crops $250. In addition to these, there will be two flower shows, opening day and Monday; an arts and crafts show; and Grange exhibit competitions.

Mrs. Joseph M. Bruyette, Rhinebeck, is in charge of premium books and entries.

Capital Is . . .

The cash fare in the district is now 20 cents, with five tokens selling for 80 cents.

Harriman Going Overseas

Albany, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman emplanes from New York city (at 4 p. m.) today for a four-week vacation in Europe and Israel billed by his office as "personal and unofficial." He will spend eight days in London, six in Paris and four each in Dublin, Rome and Israel.

Reported Sea Fire

that communications failed.

AMONG OTHER things, the tugboat was told that fire continued to sweep the craft, that there was an explosion in the engine room, that the boat had a hole in the stern and that it was sinking. Life rafts were said to have been destroyed by the flames.

At one time, said Capt. Mitchell C. Sullivan of the tugboat, his radio informant expressed belief he would have to jump off the fishing boat.

Then there was a scream and 20 minutes of silence.

Finally, between 3:35 and 3:40 a. m., the radio voice came through once more and, in extreme agitation, reported:

"A SUBMARINE is surfacing about 350 yards from us. It is coming alongside. It is proceeding to take survivors aboard. It is not an American submarine."

Following this were these last words:

"I don't think they'll let me talk any more."

From the start the tug captain, who lives at Talcottville, Conn., relayed his communications to the Coast Guard in New York.

The Coast Guard sent four ships and two planes racing to the location given by the "Blue Star."

BUT THE SEARCHERS found—save for the unmarked life jacket—nothing.

With the first report concerning the submarine, it was surmised that it might have been a vessel of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, stationed at a U. S. base on the east coast.

However, this was not borne out by checks of sub bases.

It turned out that the only sub known to be in the vicinity was an American craft some 35 miles away from the scene.

As for boats by the name of Blue Star, marine records list five. Three are on the east coast and two on the west.

ONE BELONGS to an official of a New York life insurance company. He said his craft was not involved.

Little was known of the other two on this coast, save that one supposedly is based at Miami, Fla.

Among those who flew over the area concerned was Associated Press Photographer William F. Achatz of Philadelphia. He spent nearly an hour scanning the ocean at low level.

He said afterward he spotted no trace of any ship, wreckage or survivors.

The coast guard's search had covered 3,700 square miles within six and a half hours.

Struber Case Is Set for July 18

The assault case of Mrs. Martha Struber, growing out of a shooting incident, was postponed in City Court today to July 18 on request of her attorney, Joseph Avis.

A police report said that Mrs. Struber was arrested at her home, 160 Murray street, Tuesday night on the second degree assault charge after her husband, LeRoy, had been shot in both feet with a shotgun.

Police reported they received several calls at 10:02 p. m., Tuesday, that a gun was being discharged at the Murray street address. Officers Gilbert Gray and Joseph Kivlan, police said, arrested Mrs. Struber on the second degree assault charge.

Mr. Struber was removed to Kingston Hospital for treatment. The hospital reported his condition as "good" this morning.

Polar Flights Are To Start Earlier

New York, July 7 (AP)—The New York Times said today the United States plans to fly navy planes from New Zealand to Antarctica this December—10 months ahead of schedule—in a history-making flight to link the South Polar continent with other land areas.

The Times dispatch from Paris, where the United States and other nations were reported conferring on plans for South Polar expeditions marking the international geophysical year, said the navy would dispatch a flight of six or eight planes to McMurdo sound.

The White House had announced previously that the flight—part of a Little America naval expedition to be headed by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd —would not take off until October, 1956. That first announcement said the navy would launch the three-year expedition Nov. 1, when five ships will sail under Byrd.

There was no explanation for the advancement of the flight date.

$1,000 GM Stocks

scribe to additional shares. The total, up to the present: $338,472.

Of course, you may not have been around in 1908. So suppose you had had the foresight 10 years ago to buy 100 shares of GM. Even if you'd paid around $77 a share, near the top for 1943, you would have a fat profit now. Here's what happened since:

The 100 shares for which you paid $7,700 were split two-for-one in 1950. Today you would have 200 shares selling at $127.75 apiece for a total of $25,550. Your profit would be $17,850.

You'd have done a lot bettter, of course, to have bought GM at the very bottom of the crash that started in 1929.

That long decline took GM down to $7.62 a share in 1932. One hundred shares purchased for $762 would now be 200 shares worth a total of $25,550. The profit in this case: $24,788.

Why so many splits? The reason usually given is that lower priced shares attract many more investors than higher-priced ones. That broadens the ownership, which is something many large corporations are seeking.

Promotion Launched

Maurice Blinken, president of Stein Stores, Inc., has been named chairman of the finance committee of the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, Inc., a five million dollar male apparel promotion, it was announced today by August Cohen, manager of the local Stein's store at 299 Wall street. Mr. Blinken will appoint committee members in the various segments of the industry throughout the country to raise funds for the campaign from those not already pledged, Mr. Cohen explained. He said more than 50 large textile-apparel organizations have pledged their support.

Body of Girl Found

Chicago, July 7 (AP)—The bruised body of an 8-year-old girl who had been missing since Monday was found today on the sidewalk under a viaduct on the south side. The girl was identified as Mary Manzo, who had been missing since her mother, Mrs. Lucy Manzo, 28, sent her to a drug store with 25 cents to buy a baby bottle nipple. Coroner Walter E. McCarron said this "is definitely a sex case." He declared the injuries showed the girl had been tortured.

RABBI RAPPAPORT

Rabbi H. Z. Rapaport of Congregation Agudas Achim has been elected to the national executive board of the Rabbinical Alliance of America during the group's 13th annual convention.

The rabbinical group is affiliated with the orthodox movement in the U. S., comprising of close to 500 rabbis throughout the country.

The convention, held June 28 and 29 at Spring Valley, heard a strong plea from Rabbi Jacob Ruderman, dean of Ner Israel Rabbinical College in Baltimore, Md., that the rabbis do their utmost to preserve the traditional structure of the synagogue. Rabbi Ruderman declared the seating of mixed pews as "directly contravening the explicit law, as well as the spirit of the Torah."

landlords were able to escape control or its effects."

Among such evasion schemes, Abrams stated, were renting apartments as uncontrolled "commercial studios," renting unfurnished units as furnished, designating rooming houses as hotels and making fraudulent cooperative arrangements. He said the commission had acted to check these practices.

The commission also is cracking down on housing developers who milk slum properties before demolishing them for urban redevelopment projects, Abrams added.

He said the commission was evaluating reports on rental housing surveys in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Schenectady. They were made by the U. S. Census Bureau under contract to the commission.

They demanded that state patrolmen and National Guard troops be sent in with them on the shakedown and the prisoners ordered out on the compound. Warden Lawrence Delmore Jr., scoffed at their fears and said he was certain the shakedown could be completed without incident.

NINE HOSTAGES held by the prisoners were released when Dr. Thomas Harris, state director of institutions, signed a nine point agreement with five of the 33 toughs who staged the original revolt which eventually embraced half the prison and its 1,700 inmates.

But, the guards said, they had no assurance they wouldn't replace the original hostages or suffer an even worse fate at the hands of angry convicts.

The temper of the inmates in the affected area was not known. It was feared they had heard, however, that Arthur Hawman, Walla Walla cowboy prosecutor, had announced he would prosecute the ringleaders under a new state law.

Hawman said he would ignore promises by Dr. Harris that leniency would be sought for the revolt leaders and bring them into court "just as soon as we obtain all the facts."

Harriman Going Overseas

Albany, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman emplanes from New York city (at 4 p. m.) today for a four-week vacation in Europe and Israel billed by his office as "personal and unofficial." He will spend eight days in London, six in Paris and four each in Dublin, Rome and Israel.

Reported Sea Fire

that communications failed.

AMONG OTHER things, the tugboat was told that fire continued to sweep the craft, that there was an explosion in the engine room, that the boat had a hole in the stern and that it was sinking. Life rafts were said to have been destroyed by the flames.

At one time, said Capt. Mitchell C. Sullivan of the tugboat, his radio informant expressed belief he would have to jump off the fishing boat.

Then there was a scream and 20 minutes of silence.

Finally, between 3:35 and 3:40 a. m., the radio voice came through once more and, in extreme agitation, reported:

"A SUBMARINE is surfacing about 350 yards from us. It is coming alongside. It is proceeding to take survivors aboard. It is not an American submarine."

Following this were these last words:

"I don't think they'll let me talk any more."

From the start the tug captain, who lives at Talcottville, Conn., relayed his communications to the Coast Guard in New York.

The Coast Guard sent four ships and two planes racing to the location given by the "Blue Star."

BUT THE SEARCHERS found—save for the unmarked life jacket—nothing.

With the first report concerning the submarine, it was surmised that it might have been a vessel of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, stationed at a U. S. base on the east coast.

However, this was not borne out by checks of sub bases.

It turned out that the only sub known to be in the vicinity was an American craft some 35 miles away from the scene.

As for boats by the name of Blue Star, marine records list five. Three are on the east coast and two on the west.

ONE BELONGS to an official of a New York life insurance company. He said his craft was not involved.

Little was known of the other two on this coast, save that one supposedly is based at Miami, Fla.

Among those who flew over the area concerned was Associated Press Photographer William F. Achatz of Philadelphia. He spent nearly an hour scanning the ocean at low level.

He said afterward he spotted no trace of any ship, wreckage or survivors.

The coast guard's search had covered 3,700 square miles within six and a half hours.

Struber Case Is Set for July 18

The assault case of Mrs. Martha Struber, growing out of a shooting incident, was postponed in City Court today to July 18 on request of her attorney, Joseph Avis.

A police report said that Mrs. Struber was arrested at her home, 160 Murray street, Tuesday night on the second degree assault charge after her husband, LeRoy, had been shot in both feet with a shotgun.

Police reported they received several calls at 10:02 p. m., Tuesday, that a gun was being discharged at the Murray street address. Officers Gilbert Gray and Joseph Kivlan, police said, arrested Mrs. Struber on the second degree assault charge.

Mr. Struber was removed to Kingston Hospital for treatment. The hospital reported his condition as "good" this morning.

Polar Flights Are To Start Earlier

New York, July 7 (AP)—The New York Times said today the United States plans to fly navy planes from New Zealand to Antarctica this December—10 months ahead of schedule—in a history-making flight to link the South Polar continent with other land areas.

The Times dispatch from Paris, where the United States and other nations were reported conferring on plans for South Polar expeditions marking the international geophysical year, said the navy would dispatch a flight of six or eight planes to McMurdo sound.

The White House had announced previously that the flight—part of a Little America naval expedition to be headed by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd—would not take off until October, 1956. That first announcement said the navy would launch the three-year expedition Nov. 1, when five ships will sail under Byrd.

There was no explanation for the advancement of the flight date.

scribe to additional shares. The total, up to the present: $338,472.

Of course, you may not have been around in 1908. So suppose you had had the foresight 10 years ago to buy 100 shares of GM. Even if you'd paid around $77 a share, near the top for 1943, you would have a fat profit now. Here's what happened since:

The 100 shares for which you paid $7,700 were split two-for-one in 1950. Today you would have 200 shares selling at $127.75 apiece for a total of $25,550. Your profit would be $17,850.

You'd have done a lot bettter, of course, to have bought GM at the very bottom of the crash that started in 1929.

That long decline took GM down to $7.62 a share in 1932. One hundred shares purchased for $762 would now be 200 shares worth a total of $25,550. The profit in this case: $24,788.

Why so many splits? The reason usually given is that lower priced shares attract many more investors than higher-priced ones. That broadens the ownership, which is something many large corporations are seeking.

Promotion Launched

Maurice Blinken, president of Stein Stores, Inc., has been named chairman of the finance committee of the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, Inc., a five million dollar male apparel promotion, it was announced today by August Cohen, manager of the local Stein's store at 299 Wall street. Mr. Blinken will appoint committee members in the various segments of the industry throughout the country to raise funds for the campaign from those not already pledged, Mr. Cohen explained. He said more than 50 large textile-apparel organizations have pledged their support.

Body of Girl Found

Chicago, July 7 (AP)—The bruised body of an 8-year-old girl who had been missing since Monday was found today on the sidewalk under a viaduct on the south side. The girl was identified as Mary Manzo, who had been missing since her mother, Mrs. Lucy Manzo, 28, sent her to a drug store with 25 cents to buy a baby bottle nipple. Coroner Walter E. McCarron said this "is definitely a sex case." He declared the injuries showed the girl had been tortured.

nessman and every individual can do a great deal toward retaining a balanced government for this nation, dedicated to preserving rather than strangling a free enterprise system which has made us the most prosperous nation the world has ever seen," the News said.

But this appeal is addressed to a small minority. The rabble to whom the demagogs of politics everywhere address their promises will vastly outvote these elite citizens. The southern demagog is more quaint and persuasive than the run of fakers in the north and the unions will meet only weak opposition.

Plainly, a move is gathering force and shape to promote a "labor" party in some guise to compaign for a national "labor" government such as Britain had. With billions on hand to spend for politics, the unions should win within a few years. The "labor" party and "labor government" are imports from Europe. They are always socialistic and these ventures always have been expensive disasters. Bloodshed usually is incidental to their activity, although Brittain got by without civil commotion for reasons peculiar to the British people. Bloodshed already has stained the soil of the south in this revolution and undoubtedly there will be more. The union movement will kill and wound as many southern workers as need be to accomplish its purpose. It always has worked this way and there is no sense in dropping a weapon of proven effectiveness.

Wyoming Official Would Have Boys FinishHighSchool

Washington, July 7 (AP)—Rep. E. Keith Thomson (R.-Wyo.) today urged senators not to allow draft-age youths to volunteer for President Eisenhower's new national training until they graduate from high school or turn 19.

"The Pentagon is opposing this but I believe they are wrong," the World War 2 combat infantryman said in an interview.

He was listed as the first of nearly 40 witnesses to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee today and tomorrow on the reserve program on which Eisenhower is pressing for passage.

THOMSON persuaded the House, before it passed the bill aimed at building up the trained reserve to 2,900,000 men by 1960, to adopt his amendment to require that youths volunteering for the special training be at least 19 or have graduated from high school.

The administration had proposed that up to 250,000 young men from 17 to 18½ years be permitted to volunteer yearly for this training. They would get six months active instruction and then be required to serve for 7½ years in an active reserve organization.

As long as their training service was satisfactory, they would be deferred from the regular draft. It requires 24 months active duty, plus another three years in an active reserve unit and one year in the inactive reserve.

BECAUSE recent draft calls have been running around 10,000 a month and the older eligibles are called first, Thomson said his proposal would not handicap the new training program.

He said about one-third of all the youths complete high school before they are 18½, the minimum draft age.

Pentagon officials are scheduled to testify on the reserve bill Monday after outside witnesses have been heard today and tomorrow. Senate leaders hope to have the bill ready for debate and anticipated passage next week.

Refugees Are Pride, Headache

Failure to Unseat Peron New Problem for Uruguay

Montevideo, Uruguay, July 7 (AP)—Most of Uruguay stands by and cheers at every attempt to unseat President Juan D. Peron in big-neighbor Argentina. When such attempts are defeated, Uruguay has new problems to meet.

People came out on the streets here to rejoice June 16 when news arrived that a revolt had broken out against Peron. Despondency set in when two score rebel planes took refuge in Uruguay.

TODAY THIS country of 2½ million is wrestling anew with the problem of Argentine refugees, reinforced by 100 men in the June revolt. There previously were about 100 military and 200 civilian refugees here—fugitives from former revolts or from political justice in Peron's country.

The refugees are a matter of pride—but also a headache. They enjoy the freedom of this country, probably the most democratic in Latin America. They can say or write what they please, even about Peron. Argentina holds this responsible for strained relations with Usuguay.

In an exchange of diplomatic notes just before the June revolt, Argentina asked Uruguay to put a stop to attacks on the honor of Peron and other Argentine officials by the refugees.

URUGUAY REPLIED that every resident here has full freedom of spech. Another Argentine note insisted that the Uruguayan government, if it wants to improve relations, should see that attacks are stopped. It is still waiting for an answer.

Some days before the revolt flared up in Buenos Aires, it was reported here that the Argentine government had told business firms with branches in Uruguay that drastic measures would be taken against them in Argentina if they continued advertising in three Montevideo newspapers. These three, El Dia, El Pais and El Plata, often print contributions by Argentine political refugees—men like former Congressmen Silvano Santander, Gustin Rodriguez Araya, Raul Damonte Taborda, Americo Ghioldi, Ernesto Sammartino. All earn part of their living here by writing for the press.

The refugees have gone in for a variety of activities. Some have part-time jobs as librarians, or clerks in government offices. Others, better off financially when they left Argentina, have entered business.

MANY FORMER army and navy officers are earning a hand to mouth existence. One army captain is a taxi cab driver. Another, in partnership with a naval colleague, operates two secondhand trucks. A former air force brigadier, who earned some pesos on the side giving guitar concerts, installed an open air stand to sell Argentine-style meat pies (empanadas). Then he sold the stand to other Argentines and established a shoe repair shop.

Other refugees, headed by a former army major, own a downtown second-run movie house that is the meeting place for all those who have fled from Argentina.

Some wives have joined the refugees here. But quite a number of the women have had to go back to their families in Argentina, unable to subsist.

THE ADDITION of 100 men, with no profession but their special knowledge of naval air matters, adds to the weight of Uruguay's business recession.

For Uruguay, the problem is both an immediate and a long-term one. As an international policy gesture, it promptly interned the rebel officers who landed June 16. A week later they were released, although allowed to go back to local military barracks to sleep.

WHEN A BATCH of rebel officers arrived here in September, 1951, Uruguay sent the Argentines to provincial towns far from the border. The government paid for their food and lodging, plus about $20 a month spending money for every officer. Later a bill was sent to Buenos Aires. The Argentine authorities refused to foot it, saying in effect that they had never asked for internment of the rebels.

After that experience, Uruguay avoids interning any more rebels until it is officially asked to do so.

URUGUAY ONCE received a quarter million Argentine tourists in summer time. This country has some 200,000 nationals residing across the river and now unable to come here due to travel restrictions. Similar restrictions have meant a practical stoppage of trade relations, including the import of grain, salt and cattle, and the export of sand and other Uruguayan goods.

Some Uruguayans say privately their government should curb anti-Peronista comments by refugees. But most of them, devoted to their country's freedom-ensuring laws, seem opposed to any such step.

Named to Parole Board

Albany, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today appointed Philip J. Hirsch of Staten Island to a $15,900-a-year seat on the State Parole Board. Hirsch, a lawyer, was named to a full six-year term to succeed Samuel M. Birnbaum of New York city, whose term expired last June 18. He becomes the only Democrat on the five-member board. There is one more vacancy, caused by the resignation earlier this year of Thomas J. McHugh, who was appointed state correction commissioner.

Mauhs Is Replaced

Syracuse, N. Y., July 7 (AP)—David C. Williams of Syracuse has replaced Sharon Mauhs of Cobleskill as counsel to the Eastern Milk Producers Assn., a spokesman for the group said yesterday. Mauhs is a former Democratic assemblyman. The spokesman said the directors of the association voted 9-6 on June 27 against renewing Mauhs' contract, which expired July 1. Williams is a Republican.

It was the first victory for the Legionnaires and the first loss for the VFW.

Klonowski, Mike Spada and Dan Stelz shared pitching duties for the winners and allowed five hits. Joe Beaver hurled for the VFW.

Klonowski's three-bagger was the only extra-base hit of the game. Tony Childs got two of the six hits off Beaver. Mel Williams hit twice for the losers.

The village of Port Ewen should feel proud of its record of developing young baseball players into major league prospects.

Three of its native sons are signed to big league pacts. Clark Mains, the most fabulous KHS pitcher of the past two decades, was first to blaze the major league trail when he joined the New York Giant chain.

Billy "The Kid" Short of Newburgh, via Port Ewen, recently inked a New York Yankee contract. Then along came Big Bob Shelightner with a New York Giant pact.

The city proper hasn't sent a boy into the minor league chain for several years, unless you want to include a couple of youngsters working their way through college on major league backing.

The Port Ewen record is a remarkable one and all the more amazing because there has been no village team of any stature there since the heydey of Bing Van Etten, Ken Best, the Houghtaling brothers, Chick Maurer and others.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Happiest man in Port Ewen must be Art Shelightner of our press room staff, who is a rabid Giant rooter. As a matter of fact in our whole Freeman setup, you can shake Giant rooters off the trees. Bob, incidentally, confided that he is a St. Louis Cardinal follower. That was until yesterday. . . . Bo Gill reports from Newburgh that Billy Short will not receive his $4,000 Yankee bonus in a lump sum. His salary for the current campaign will be deducted from that amount. If he does not make good within 90 days, he might not be eligible for the $4,000 according to Triple A regulations. Bill Weatherwax, son of H. Law Weatherwax of Red Hook, former intercollegiate golf champion at Yale, and Gerry Beyer join John Turck and Steve DeLisio, of Woodstock, in the JCC state gold tournament at Elmira in July.

• Of Men and Mice:

Hot weather tip via Joe Hoffman, the part time mixologist: Mix a little salt with your Tom Collins. . . . Members of the pre-war Roaring Forties and Dr. O'Connor's Kernels are rallying to the support of the Father Drew Fund. Father John Drew who took part in many of the old baseball clambakes, is seeking funds to build a church at Fung Yuan in Formosa. Bowlers are buzzing about the fantastic contest planned by a bowling shirt manufacturer in September, 1956, at Chicago. The gimmick, of course, is that you have to roll a 300 game while wearing the sponsor's shirt during the 1955-56 season to qualify for the tournament. The first place prize is phenomenal: $7,500 in cash, a two week trip to Europe via BOAC for four persons, a Dodge Lancer, and a gold cup. The winning bowler's sponsor is also eligible for the trip to Europe. Maurice Daveport, Clarence Raichle, George Hughes, Alvie Boice among Kingston golfers competing in the Woodstock CC member-guest Saturday.

Second guess department: Regardless of what Don Mueller is hitting, we'd take Stan Musial in the outfield for a big one like the All Star classic. No complaint about the American League array of Mickey Mantle, Al Kaline and Ted Williams. But on the National side we'd like to go with Willie Mays, Duke Snider and Stan Musial. . . . The most highly publicized semi-pro team of the decade—the Newburgh Dodger Jewels—visit municipal stadium Saturday night to do battle with the Colonials. Bo Gill gave the Brooklyn affiliate the full treatment until they dropped their third game in five starts. Then he relegated them to a two-column head. One of the most appalling aspects of the 1955 baseball season is the incredible conditions under which City Baseball League games are played. If this is the league where all small fry aspire some day to wind up, then it deserves better playing conditions. Nothing irks Rocky Marciano more than the perennial query "How do you feel?" "What do they expect me to say, 'terrible'," laments the Rock.

Patterson's Pilot Predicts Title After McBride Kayo

New York, July 7 (AP)—"Floyd Patterson is going to be the youngest heavyweight champ of all times."

Gus D'Amato, a "neutral" observer who happens to be Patterson's manager, made that statement last night. Patterson, only 20, had just knocked out Archie McBride, his first mansized heavyweight foe, after giving away 15½ pounds. The end came at 1:46 of the seventh round at Madison Square Garden with about 2,500 fans watching. McBride was down three times.

IT DIDN'T take any advanced math to figure out that Patterson must win before January 4, 1958 for that will be the Brooklyn boy's 23rd birthday. Joe Louis was only 23 when he knocked out Jimmy Braddock to become the youngest heavy champ in history.

"We'll be in a better position after the Archie Moore-Rocky Marciano bout in September," said D'Amato. "If Moore wins, we might go for the light heavy title. If Marciano wins, we might decide to leap frog the light heavy division."

In the meantime, D'Amato must go out of town to get action for his fighter for the manager went on the indefinitely suspended list after last night's fight. He had been set down for refusing to answer questions about the Manager's Guild activities at the recent hearings of the New York State Athletic Commission.

PATTERSON, as calm as ever, didn't have much to say in his dressing room. He had a cut on his left cheek, another cut over the left eye and a scratch on the side of the right eye. "I had him figured after the fourth," he said. "I told Gus I was going to give him a hard time in the next round (fifth)."

McBride, 26-year-old Trenton, N. J., heavyweight, learned deep respect for Patterson's flashing hands although he thought he had the youngster "on the way" when he caught him with a left hook in the third round. "I lost him," he said. "He was too fast."

Mike Mitchell, a Cincinnati outfielder, was the first batter to hit a fair ball out of Forbes Field, Pittsburgh. He did it less than a month after the park was opened in 1909.

Ray Boone, third baseman for the Detroit Tigers, started his baseball career as a catcher.

Sixth-Inning Single Spoils No-Hit Effort

Winners Take Undisputed Lead

City League

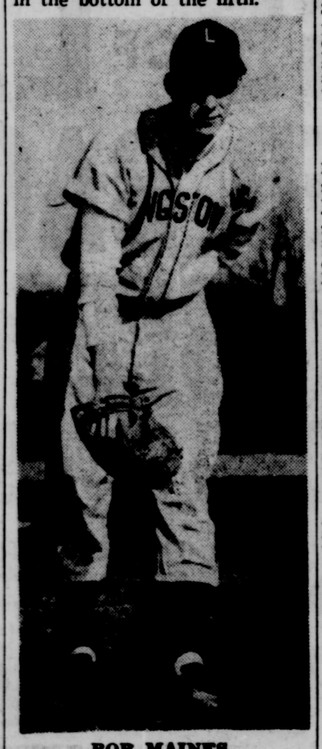
Fireballing Bob Maines of the New York Panthers southpawed Jones Dairy into submission, 2-1, on a sparkling one-hitter embellished by 14 strikeouts in yesterday's City League clash of the unbeaten titans.

As a result of Maines' superlative stint, the Panthers are off by themselves with four straight victories. The Dairymen dropped back to a second place tie with Dobler Beer.

BOO SCHAFFER'S run producing single in the sixth deprived the Kingston High School ace of a no-hitter.

The Panthers broke up a tense pitching duel between Maines and Hinkley with a pair of runs in the bottom of the fifth.



BOB MAINES

Hinkley and Maines pitched hitless ball through the first three innings but the spell was broken in the bottom of the fourth when Steve Cea tripled to deep right field on Hinkley's first pitch but died there when the redhead retired the next three batters.

BILL HABER'S single accounted for the two Panther tallies in the fifth after Nippy Jones' boot of Tommy Maines' grounder had opened the door.

Christiana beat out an infield single and Haber followed with a solo shot to left field. Ferraro's single, the third hit of the frame, followed but it was just so much window dressing.

Hinkley reached first base on a dropped third strike to set up the only scoring sequence for the Dairymen and the ultimate ruination of Maines' bid for a no-hitter. Jones forced him at second, who moved up on a wild pitch. Boo Schaffer then drilled the spell breaking single.

Between them Hinkley and Bechtold permitted only three hits. The Jones Dairy starter fanned three. Bechtold had four K victims.

Brown led the 12-hit assault on losing hurler Jim Markle with three singles in as many trips to the plate.

FRANK LEIREY clipped a home run for the winners. Frank "Specs" Ebelheiser had three hits for the Cedar Rests.

Pitchers Tony Rizzi of the Legion and Jake Smith of Wimpy's were both given a rocking and socking. Rizzi was clipped for 11 hits and Smith for one less.

Smith was effective for the first four innings, when he held his opponents scoreless. But he gave up two in the fifth frame, three in the sixth and the deciding run in the seventh.

Jim Woods and Hank Diamond of Wimpy's were the game's hitting stars. Woods clubbed a home run and Diamond collected a double and a pair of singles.

THE DESTROYERS, outhit 11 to eight, bunched their scoring into three innings—the third, fifth and seventh.

After allowing all the Miron runs in the first three frames, Frank Boyce held the Lumbermen scoreless the rest of the way.

John Lawson hit a triple and stole home off losing pitcher Don Bradley. Ferrell McElrath had three hits for the Lumber nine.

It was the first victory for the Legionnaires and the first loss for the VFW.

GALLO'S execution of the old "squeeze play" came after Paul Klonowski tripled to deep left.

Klonowski, Mike Spada and Dan Stelz shared pitching duties for the winners and allowed five hits. Joe Beaver hurled for the VFW.

Klonowski's three-bagger was the only extra-base hit of the game. Tony Childs got two of the six hits off Beaver. Mel Williams hit twice for the losers.

The village of Port Ewen should feel proud of its record of developing young baseball players into major league prospects.

Three of its native sons are signed to big league pacts. Clark Mains, the most fabulous KHS pitcher of the past two decades, was first to blaze the major league trail when he joined the New York Giant chain.

Billy "The Kid" Short of Newburgh, via Port Ewen, recently inked a New York Yankee contract. Then along came Big Bob Shelightner with a New York Giant pact.

The city proper hasn't sent a boy into the minor league chain for several years, unless you want to include a couple of youngsters working their way through college on major league backing.

The Port Ewen record is a remarkable one and all the more amazing because there has been no village team of any stature there since the heydey of Bing Van Etten, Ken Best, the Houghtaling brothers, Chick Maurer and others.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Happiest man in Port Ewen must be Art Shelightner of our press room staff, who is a rabid Giant rooter. As a matter of fact in our whole Freeman setup, you can shake Giant rooters off the trees. Bob, incidentally, confided that he is a St. Louis Cardinal follower. That was until yesterday. . . . Bo Gill reports from Newburgh that Billy Short will not receive his $4,000 Yankee bonus in a lump sum. His salary for the current campaign will be deducted from that amount. If he does not make good within 90 days, he might not be eligible for the $4,000 according to Triple A regulations. Bill Weatherwax, son of H. Law Weatherwax of Red Hook, former intercollegiate golf champion at Yale, and Gerry Beyer join John Turck and Steve DeLisio, of Woodstock, in the JCC state gold tournament at Elmira in July.

• Of Men and Mice:

Brown led the 12-hit assault on losing hurler Jim Markle with three singles in as many trips to the plate.

FRANK LEIREY clipped a home run for the winners. Frank "Specs" Ebelheiser had three hits for the Cedar Rests.

Pitchers Tony Rizzi of the Legion and Jake Smith of Wimpy's were both given a rocking and socking. Rizzi was clipped for 11 hits and Smith for one less.

Smith was effective for the first four innings, when he held his opponents scoreless. But he gave up two in the fifth frame, three in the sixth and the deciding run in the seventh.

Jim Woods and Hank Diamond of Wimpy's were the game's hitting stars. Woods clubbed a home run and Diamond collected a double and a pair of singles.

THE DESTROYERS, outhit 11 to eight, bunched their scoring into three innings—the third, fifth and seventh.

After allowing all the Miron runs in the first three frames, Frank Boyce held the Lumbermen scoreless the rest of the way.

Big Ted Pokes Fun At Nationals' Shift; Goes Three for 4

Boston, July 7 (AP) — Ted Williams, lefthanded slugging sparkplug of Boston's fast moving Red Sox, is having some fun wrecking the shift against him.

Ted, pounding out three hits in four official trips last night to raise his average to .402 in 25 games, did a job on Washington without once pulling the ball to right field.

His two-run homer in the fifth inning was the big blow in the 7-5 victory went 400 feet into the left corner of the centerfield bleachers.

HE SINGLED in the second inning on an infield hit to the left side and in the sixth switched his stride to send a double down the left field line while the Nationals' players were moved well around to the right.

The Williams shift came about in 1946 when then Cleveland manager Lou Boudreau first pulled it. Since then it's become standard defensive equipment for Red Sox opponents.

Ted's 11th homer of the season and 377th of his major league career was a personal triumph over Washington relief pitcher Dean Stone. Stone's first inning strikeout of Williams in the final game of the 1954 season robbed him of his last chance of catching Cleveland's Bobby Avila for the American League batting crown.

SpeakersChange, Not Joke

Belleville, Ill. (AP)—The guest speakers at the weekly Rotary Club meetings changed but the joke, about the motorist and the insane asylum, remained the same— for five consecutive weeks. The members began to complain. H. T. Dunck, the program chairman, tried to forestall a repetition of the joke by telling it himself in introducing speaker No. 6. He was shouted down.

Brooklyn Dodger first baseman Frank Kellert began his athletic career as a basketball player. He won a scholarship in that sport to Oklahoma A & M in 1943.

State Champion Upset in First Round of Tourney

Jamestown, July 7 (AP)—Some of the brightest lights in state golfing circles moved into the second and third rounds today of the 33rd New York State Amateur golf championship.

Tommy Goodwin of Rye, four-time state champ, Billy Shields of Albany, and Ronnie Terpak, 18-year-old youngster from Endicott, were among the favorites who headed out over Moon Brook Country Club's 6,371-yard layout.

But some of the top-rankers fell by the wayside yesterday in the opening round of the tourney. Defending champion Bob Monk of White Plains, was upset by John Quinzi of Midvale Golf Club, Rochester, in a playoff after the regulation 19 found the men with identical scores of 37-38—75.

QUINZI calmly chopped his approach up to the pin on the 19th hole for an easy par and a 1-up triumph over Monk.

Goodwin managed to defeat Ward Wettlaufer, 19-year-old whiz kid from Buffalo, but only after a tussle that gave spectators some of the most thrilling moments of the tourney.

Goodwin carded 34-37—71 to Wettlaufer's 37-35—72. Par for the toughened up Moon Brook course is 36-35—71.

Foreign Cars At Orange Track

Model XK-120 Jaguars, reported to be the fastest road cars ever built, will be featured in the open class when foreign car races are presented on the half mile dirt track at the Orange county fairgrounds in Middletown Saturday, July 9.

Top in Class for the 1954 season was the No. 4 driven by Freddie Fehr of Easton, Pa., and it will be the one to beat Saturday.

Another Jaguar with an equally famous driver and sponsor is the No. 6 driven by Dick Keen of Allentown, Pa., in the Steve Allen car. Keen drove his Jag to a second position in the American LeMans last August in Linden, N. J.

In addition to the foreign cars, the Victory Speedway Association will present its regular stock car races.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Manager Paul Richards may have a sound idea for the future with his youth movement at Baltimore, but when it comes to winning here and now it's the old guys who get the job done for the Orioles.

With a block of recently signed bonus youngsters on the roster, it was veterans like Jim Wilson (33), Dave Philley (35), Hoot Evers (34), Freddy Marsh (31) Chuck Diering (32) and Hank Majeski (38) who were in the lineup as the Orioles pasted the New York Yankees 4-0 last night.

THE VICTORY didn't mean too much to Baltimore, down in the basement 27½ games out of first, but it pared the Yanks' American League lead to 4½ games over Cleveland's Indians, who beat Kansas City 8-4.

Wilson was the crafty "old-timer" who sent New York to its fourth straight defeat. The big righthander, in his ninth big league season, gave the Yanks just four hits and didn't let a runner get past first base. He fanned four and walked only two, winning his sixth against eight defeats.

It was Wilson, too, who lined a two-run single as the Orioles scored all their runs in the fourth inning off Whitey Ford, who like Wilson is on the All-Star pitching staff. It was Ford's fourth defeat.

While Cleveland closed in on the Yanks, Boston moved up on the third place Chicago White Sox. The Red Sox beat Washington 7-5 after Detroit had knocked off the Pale Hose 5-3. That left Boston 1½ games behind Chicago.

IN THE NATIONAL, Brooklyn split with Pittsburgh, winning 10-5 and losing 4-1 in a twi-nighter; Milwaukee snared Chicago 5-1; New York beat Philadelphia 4-2, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 6-4.

Pittsburgh had consecutive homers by Jerry Lynch, Frank Thomas and Dale Long—tying a major league mark held by many clubs—off Carl Erskine while losing the opener. In the nightcap, Vern Law fanned 10 and chipped in a run-scoring double as the Bucs scored three in the eighth off reliefer Ed Roebuck, who had preserved Erskine's ninth victory in the first game.

Last place Pittsburgh now has clipped Brooklyn's league leaders more times than any other club in the circuit—winning six of 15.

The Giants rallied for four runs in the sixth, with Don Mueller getting in his tie-breaking two-run homer before rain halted the game with New York still at bat. Curt Simmons was the loser with reliefer Ramon Monzant winning his first in the mapors as New York regained fourth place.

Big Ted Pokes Fun At Nationals' Shift; Goes Three for 4

Boston, July 7 (AP) — Ted Williams, lefthanded slugging sparkplug of Boston's fast moving Red Sox, is having some fun wrecking the shift against him.

Ted, pounding out three hits in four official trips last night to raise his average to .402 in 25 games, did a job on Washington without once pulling the ball to right field.

His two-run homer in the fifth inning was the big blow in the 7-5 victory went 400 feet into the left corner of the centerfield bleachers.

HE SINGLED in the second inning on an infield hit to the left side and in the sixth switched his stride to send a double down the left field line while the Nationals' players were moved well around to the right.

The Williams shift came about in 1946 when then Cleveland manager Lou Boudreau first pulled it. Since then it's become standard defensive equipment for Red Sox opponents.

Ted's 11th homer of the season and 377th of his major league career was a personal triumph over Washington relief pitcher Dean Stone. Stone's first inning strikeout of Williams in the final game of the 1954 season robbed him of his last chance of catching Cleveland's Bobby Avila for the American League batting crown.

Speakers Change, Not Joke

Belleville, Ill. (AP)—The guest speakers at the weekly Rotary Club meetings changed but the joke, about the motorist and the insane asylum, remained the same— for five consecutive weeks. The members began to complain. H. T. Dunck, the program chairman, tried to forestall a repetition of the joke by telling it himself in introducing speaker No. 6. He was shouted down.

State Champion Upset in First Round of Tourney

Jamestown, July 7 (AP)—Some of the brightest lights in state golfing circles moved into the second and third rounds today of the 33rd New York State Amateur golf championship.

Tommy Goodwin of Rye, four-time state champ, Billy Shields of Albany, and Ronnie Terpak, 18-year-old youngster from Endicott, were among the favorites who headed out over Moon Brook Country Club's 6,371-yard layout.

But some of the top-rankers fell by the wayside yesterday in the opening round of the tourney. Defending champion Bob Monk of White Plains, was upset by John Quinzi of Midvale Golf Club, Rochester, in a playoff after the regulation 19 found the men with identical scores of 37-38—75.

QUINZI calmly chopped his approach up to the pin on the 19th hole for an easy par and a 1-up triumph over Monk.

Goodwin managed to defeat Ward Wettlaufer, 19-year-old whiz kid from Buffalo, but only after a tussle that gave spectators some of the most thrilling moments of the tourney.

Goodwin carded 34-37—71 to Wettlaufer's 37-35—72. Par for the toughened up Moon Brook course is 36-35—71.

Foreign Cars At Orange Track

Model XK-120 Jaguars, reported to be the fastest road cars ever built, will be featured in the open class when foreign car races are presented on the half mile dirt track at the Orange county fairgrounds in Middletown Saturday, July 9.

Top in Class for the 1954 season was the No. 4 driven by Freddie Fehr of Easton, Pa., and it will be the one to beat Saturday.

Another Jaguar with an equally famous driver and sponsor is the No. 6 driven by Dick Keen of Allentown, Pa., in the Steve Allen car. Keen drove his Jag to a second position in the American LeMans last August in Linden, N. J.

In addition to the foreign cars, the Victory Speedway Association will present its regular stock car races.

THE SCOREBOARD

By ED WILKS
(The Associated Press)

Manager Paul Richards may have a sound idea for the future with his youth movement at Baltimore, but when it comes to winning here and now it's the old guys who get the job done for the Orioles.

With a block of recently signed bonus youngsters on the roster, it was veterans like Jim Wilson (33), Dave Philley (35), Hoot Evers (34), Freddy Marsh (31) Chuck Diering (32) and Hank Majeski (38) who were in the lineup as the Orioles pasted the New York Yankees 4-0 last night.

THE VICTORY didn't mean too much to Baltimore, down in the basement 27½ games out of first, but it pared the Yanks' American League lead to 4½ games over Cleveland's Indians, who beat Kansas City 8-4.

Wilson was the crafty "oldtimer" who sent New York to its fourth straight defeat. The big righthander, in his ninth big league season, gave the Yanks just four hits and didn't let a runner get past first base. He fanned four and walked only two, winning his sixth against eight defeats.

It was Wilson, too, who lined a two-run single as the Orioles scored all their runs in the fourth inning off Whitey Ford, who like Wilson is on the All-Star pitching staff. It was Ford's fourth defeat.

While Cleveland closed in on the Yanks, Boston moved up on the third place Chicago White Sox, The Red Sox beat Washington 7-5 after Detroit had knocked off the Pale Hose 5-3. That left Boston 1½ games behind Chicago.

IN THE NATIONAL, Brooklyn split with Pittsburgh, winning 10-5 and losing 4-1 in a twinighter; Milwaukee snared Chicago 5-1; New York beat Philadelphia 4-2, and St. Louis defeated Cincinnati 6-4.

Pittsburgh had consecutive homers by Jerry Lynch, Frank Thomas and Dale Long—tying a major league mark held by many clubs—off Carl Erskine while losing the opener. In the nightcap, Vern Law fanned 10 and chipped in a run-scoring double as the Bucs scored three in the eighth off reliefer Ed Roebuck, who had preserved Erskine's ninth victory in the first game.

Last place Pittsburgh now has clipped Brooklyn's league leaders more times than any other club in the circuit—winning six of 15.

The Giants rallied for four runs in the sixth, with Don Mueller getting in his tie-breaking two-run homer before rain halted the game with New York still at bat. Curt Simmons was the loser with reliefer Ramon Monzant winning his first in the mapors as New York regained fourth place.

Teachers Asked to Inspire Interest in Science Research

Chicago, July 7 (AP) — A top atomic scientist today called on teachers, for the sake of the nation, to inspire exceptional students to go into scientific research.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said the shortage of scientists and engineers "is a matter of serious concern."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the convention of the National Education Association, representing 52 per cent of the nation's teachers, he said that "only about 2 per cent of those judged mentally capable of obtaining Ph.D. degrees do so."

LIBBY BLAMED the shortage on "inadequate" instruction in the colleges and secondary schools, a mistaken belief that the fields of discovery are narrowing, and lack of financial reward.

Libby said the exceptional student must choose to go into technical work on non-financial grounds — he must have the desire to discover and "altruistic motivation."

Libby, on leave himself from the University of Chicago faculty, called on the teachers to "inspire" the "superior" student to go on to greater things.

HE SAID "it is very important that adequate attention always be paid to this small but important fraction of the classes in mathematics and the sciences in high school. In many instances, only inspirational teaching will suffice. Nothing short of an attitude of this sort will excite and maintain their interest."

Libby said "particular attention has to be given to the superior student's idiosyncrasies and particular care to avoid discouragement is extremely important."

In another prepared address, Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) urged passage of the 400 million dollar school aid bill now pending in Congress.

HE ASKED that "the federal government assume major financial responsibility for public education."

"We do not ask 60 per cent or 75 per cent or 90 per cent of the cost," said Bailey, "as do our highway building friends, but only about 25 per cent of the 4 billion dollar annual construction program we must have during the next five years to house the children already born."

Speaking on an "educator's view" of the financial problem, Edgar L. Morphet of the university of California expressed the view that new and expanded industrial and agricultural production will tend "eventually to catch up with our growth in population and will add greatly to our ability to finance schools."

"If we take a long range point of view," Morphez said in a prepared speech, "we should not be concerned about our ability to finance good schools but rather about whether sufficient people will understand the need for education that they will be willing to make the effort to provide good schools."

Triplets Sweep Jays to Gain 2nd in Eastern

(By The Associated Press)

The Binghamton Triplets moved into second place in the hotly contested Eastern League race yesterday as they swept a twin bill from the Schenectady Blue Jays, erstwhile second place holders.

Zeke Bella's leadoff homer in the ninth provided the Trips' margin of victory as they won the nightcap 4-3. In the opener, which Trips won 3-2, Frank Lucas gained credit for his fifth victory.

As a result of the double loss, Schenectady dropped to a tie for fourth with Allentown, two games off the pace.

THE LEAGUE leading Williamsport Grays held on to their top position by shutting out the Allentown Redbirds, 3-0. Cal Hogue got credit for his fifth straight victory.

There were position shifts at the bottom, also, as the Albany Senators jumped from last place to a tie for sixth, by defeating the Elmira Pioneers, who fell to the cellar.

The Pioneers were leading 6-2 in the eighth, when their pitching collapsed and Albany managed to get four runs across to tie the score. The Pioneers got a runner as far as third in the ninth, but Ernie Nichols, the third Albany pitcher, got out of the jam.

Carl Hobson broke it up by slicing one of Les Fesette's pitches over the wall. The final score was 7-6.

Gene Lary, fresh from the University of Alabama campus, blanked the Johnstown Johnnies 8-0, as the Reading Indians swept their series at Reading. It was the tenth straight loss for the Johnnies.

Negro Is Authorized To Adopt White Child

Washington, July 7 (AP) — The U. S. court of appeals today authorized a Negro to adopt the 6-year-old child of his white wife.

The court's unanimous decision, which omitted names, overturned "as erroneous" a decision by U. S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff denying the adoption.

The appellate court related that the child was born out of wedlock in 1949. The natural father, who is white, never supported the child.

The Negro, a taxi driver and law student, married the white woman in 1951. They have two children.

Judge Holtzoff, in rejecting the adoption petition, said the Negro and his wife have refused to sign a loyalty declaration required by persons living in federal housing projects. Further, he said, "the boy when he grows up might lose the social status of a white man by reason of the fact that by record his father will be a Negro if this adoption is approved."

Started Fathers Day

The idea of Fathers Day originated with Mrs. John B. Dodd, of Spokane, Wash., and the first celebration was held in Spokane on June 19, 1910.

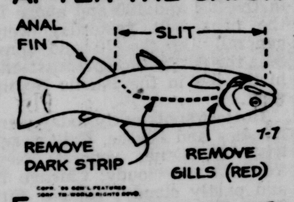
AFTER THE CATCH



EXCITABLE TROUT ARE BETTER FLAVORED IF KILLED AS THEY'RE CAUGHT. CLEAN 'EM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE: SLIT BELLY FROM JAW TO VENT, AND REMOVE ENTRAILS. REMOVE DARK STRIP NEXT TO BACKBONE WITH YOUR THUMBNAIL. REMOVE GILLS. WIPE INSIDES DRY. SEPARATE FISH IN CREEL WITH DAMP LEAVES, FERN OR GRASS. KEEP DAMP.

LESS EXCITABLE BASS, WALLEYES, ETC., MAY BE STRINGERED UNTIL KILLED AND CLEANED. BUT, IF BOAT FISHING IN HOT WEATHER, IT'S WISER TO PUT KILLED AND CLEANED FISH IN PORTABLE ICE BOXES. (DON'T CLEAN A RECORD FISH: DAMPEN TO AVOID WEIGHT LOSS.)

The hammock was invented by the Arawak Indians who once lived in the West Indies.

Teachers Asked to Inspire Interest in Science Research

Chicago, July 7 (AP) — A top atomic scientist today called on teachers, for the sake of the nation, to inspire exceptional students to go into scientific research.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said the shortage of scientists and engineers "is a matter of serious concern."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the convention of the National Education Association, representing 52 per cent of the nation's teachers, he said that "only about 2 per cent of those judged mentally capable of obtaining Ph.D. degrees do so."

LIBBY BLAMED the shortage on "inadequate" instruction in the colleges and secondary schools, a mistaken belief that the fields of discovery are narrowing, and lack of financial reward.

Libby said the exceptional student must choose to go into technical work on non-financial grounds — he must have the desire to discover and "altruistic motivation."

Libby, on leave himself from the University of Chicago faculty, called on the teachers to "inspire" the "superior" student to go on to greater things.

HE SAID "it is very important that adequate attention always be paid to this small but important fraction of the classes in mathematics and the sciences in high school. In many instances, only inspirational teaching will suffice. Nothing short of an attitude of this sort will excite and maintain their interest."

Libby said "particular attention has to be given to the superior student's idiosyncrasies and particular care to avoid discouragement is extremely important."

In another prepared address, Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W. Va.) urged passage of the 400 million dollar school aid bill now pending in Congress.

HE ASKED that "the federal government assume major financial responsibility for public education."

"We do not ask 60 per cent or 75 per cent or 90 per cent of the cost," said Bailey, "as do our highway building friends, but only about 25 per cent of the 4 billion dollar annual construction program we must have during the next five years to house the children already born."

Speaking on an "educator's view" of the financial problem, Edgar L. Morphet of the university of California expressed the view that new and expanded industrial and agricultural production will tend "eventually to catch up with our growth in population and will add greatly to our ability to finance schools."

"If we take a long range point of view," Morphez said in a prepared speech, "we should not be concerned about our ability to finance good schools but rather about whether sufficient people will understand the need for education that they will be willing to make the effort to provide good schools."

Triplets Sweep Jays to Gain 2nd in Eastern

(By The Associated Press)

The Binghamton Triplets moved into second place in the hotly contested Eastern League race yesterday as they swept a twin bill from the Schenectady Blue Jays, erstwhile second place holders.

Zeke Bella's leadoff homer in the ninth provided the Trips' margin of victory as they won the nightcap 4-3. In the opener, which Trips won 3-2, Frank Lucas gained credit for his fifth victory.

As a result of the double loss, Schenectady dropped to a tie for fourth with Allentown, two games off the pace.

THE LEAGUE leading Williamsport Grays held on to their top position by shutting out the Allentown Redbirds, 3-0. Cal Hogue got credit for his fifth straight victory.

There were position shifts at the bottom, also, as the Albany Senators jumped from last place to a tie for sixth, by defeating the Elmira Pioneers, who fell to the cellar.

The Pioneers were leading 6-2 in the eighth, when their pitching collapsed and Albany managed to get four runs across to tie the score. The Pioneers got a runner as far as third in the ninth, but Ernie Nichols, the third Albany pitcher, got out of the jam.

Carl Hobson broke it up by slicing one of Les Fesette's pitches over the wall. The final score was 7-6.

Gene Lary, fresh from the University of Alabama campus, blanked the Johnstown Johnnies 8-0, as the Reading Indians swept their series at Reading. It was the tenth straight loss for the Johnnies.

Negro Is Authorized To Adopt White Child

Washington, July 7 (AP) — The U. S. court of appeals today authorized a Negro to adopt the 6-year-old child of his white wife.

The court's unanimous decision, which omitted names, overturned "as erroneous" a decision by U. S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff denying the adoption.

The appellate court related that the child was born out of wedlock in 1949. The natural father, who is white, never supported the child.

The Negro, a taxi driver and law student, married the white woman in 1951. They have two children.

Judge Holtzoff, in rejecting the adoption petition, said the Negro and his wife have refused to sign a loyalty declaration required by persons living in federal housing projects. Further, he said, "the boy when he grows up might lose the social status of a white man by reason of the fact that by record his father will be a Negro if this adoption is approved."

Started Fathers Day

The idea of Fathers Day originated with Mrs. John B. Dodd, of Spokane, Wash., and the first celebration was held in Spokane on June 19, 1910.

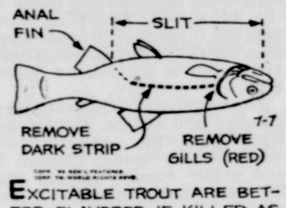
SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

AFTER THE CATCH



EXCITABLE TROUT ARE BETTER FLAVORED IF KILLED AS THEY'RE CAUGHT. CLEAN 'EM AS SOON AS POSSIBLE: SLIT BELLY FROM JAW TO VENT, AND REMOVE ENTRAILS. REMOVE DARK STRIP NEXT TO BACKBONE WITH YOUR THUMBNAIL. REMOVE GILLS. WIPE INSIDES DRY. SEPARATE FISH IN CREEL WITH DAMP LEAVES, FERN OR GRASS. KEEP DAMP.

LESS EXCITABLE BASS, WALLEYES, ETC., MAY BE STRINGERED UNTIL KILLED AND CLEANED. BUT, IF BOAT FISHING IN HOT WEATHER, IT'S WISER TO PUT KILLED AND CLEANED FISH IN PORTABLE ICE BOXES. (DON'T CLEAN A RECORD FISH: DAMPEN TO AVOID WEIGHT LOSS.)

The hammock was invented by the Arawak Indians who once lived in the West Indies.

Area Gets Relief From Heat Wave; More Is on Way

Slight relief from the oppressive heat wave which covered Kingston for the last five days, and which sent the temperature soaring to 103 degrees on Tuesday was felt yesterday when the city engineer's office reported a thermometer reading of 90 degrees at 11:45 a. m.

The high temperature at a morning hour was described as "unusual."

SCATTERED SHOWERS Wednesday night offered some relief from the heat which has blanketed the eastern half of the nation for as long as a week.

The Associated Press, in a report from New York city, quoted the weatherman as forecasting continued hot and humid from the plains states eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

The weather bureau reported New York city, after four days of 90-plus heat, was hit by thunderstorms last night and temperatures dropped 20 degrees after the day's high of 91.1. Chicago, with seven straight days of 90 or higher readings, also got some temporary relief from showers, the Associated Press reported.

THUNDERSTORMS also were reported in the northern Rockies and northern Missouri Valley states. Hailstones, some described as bigger than baseballs, pelted the area of Billings, Mont., yesterday and caused damage estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. Thousands of windows in the city were shattered by the storm, which was driven by wind gusts up to 54 M.P.H.

Only major temperature changes were reported in the northeast with drops of 5 to 10 degrees from yesterday morning readings. Readings which were in the 90s and 100 and above in the heat belt yesterday were generally in the 70 and some 80s; the 60s in the northeast and in the 50s in the Pacific Northwest.

Hottest spots early today were Needles and Blythe, Calif., each with 87. Other reports: New York 70 and cloudy; Chicago 73 and partly cloudy; Kansas City 78 and clear; Miami 78 and cloudy; Los Angeles 64 and clear; Seattle 56 and cloudy; St. Louis 74 and partly cloudy; Des Moines 74 and cloudy; Detroit 73 and partly cloudy; Fargo, N. D., 75 and cloudy; Springfield, Ill., 73 and partly cloudy; Milwaukee 70 and cloudy.

Historic Steeple ReplacedinBoston

Boston, July 7 (AP)—Historic Old North Church from whose steeple was hung the signal warning Paul Revere of the approach of the British has a new spire today—the exact replica of the original.

The new steeple was raised yesterday, less than a year after Hurricane Carol toppled the spire on Aug. 31, 1954.

Into the rebuilt structure went the original window from which hung the lanterns for Paul Revere on April 18, 1775. The window and other ancient woodwork were salvaged from the storm wreckage.

The assembled and painted steeple was brought from nearby Somerville, Mass., and hoisted into place with a huge crane.

As workers bolted down the new spire, Vicar Charles Russell Peck rang the church bells to announce the restoration of the steeple.

Months of work are still ahead to complete details of the steeple.

Money for the restoration was raised through a nation-wide appeal which brought in more than $150,000 in six months.

Jewish Couple Presses Case to Retain Child

Brookline, Mass., July 7 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis, who face the loss of their adopted daughter because they are Jewish and she is a Catholic, vowed today to "keep on doing everything we can to keep her."

The Ellises have been engaged in a long legal battle to keep 4-year-old Hildy McCoy since their adoption petition was nullified in 1953.

The nullification was based on a Massachusetts law which says that when practicable a child should be given for adoption to a couple of the same religious faith as the child.

IN THE LATEST court action, James Zisman, counsel for the Ellises, went before Supreme Court Judge Raymond S. Wilkins yesterday and argued for a review of the Probate Court proceedings in which the couple was ordered to surrender the child or face arrest.

Judge Wilkins gave attorneys for the Commonwealth two weeks to file answers to Zisman's contentions that the arrest of the Ellises without a hearing would be a "deprivation of their fundamental rights."

Mrs. Ellis and the child are "out of town" and unreachable for comment.

Ellis, speaking for himself and his wife, said in an interview: "We are determined that Hildy won't be hurt. We feel Hildy's mother doesn't want her. We are going to keep on doing everything we can do to keep her. We can only play a defensive role and try to counter the attacks of those who are trying to take her."

Mrs. Edward Phelan who was a weekend guest of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Terwilliger, has returned to her home in Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Warren Howe of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., was a holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Tinney at their home on Broadway.

Rotary Fellowships Discussed at Meeting

Lewis Shaw of the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club spoke on the Rotary Foundation Fellowships at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Inaugurated in 1947 as a memorial to Paul P. Harris, who founded the first Rotary Club in the world in Chicago in 1905, the Fellowships enable outstanding graduate students to study for one year, in a country other than their own, as ambassadors of good will on Rotary grants.

Since this program for the promotion of international understanding was started, some 700 Rotary Fellowships have been awarded to students from 42 countries. The grants have totaled several million dollars.

Digest Slayers Get New Execution Stay

Westport, Conn., July 7 (AP)—Three men convicted of slaying a Readers Digest messenger in 1950 have won a temporary stay of execution. They were scheduled to die tonight in New York's Sing Sing Prison.

The stay was granted by U. S. Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan at his summer home here yesterday after conferring with attorneys for the condemned men.

The attorneys went to Harlan's home seeking a stay to appeal a Westchester county, N. Y., court decision denying the men a new trial. Earlier yesterday a New York State Court of Appeals judge turned them down.

The three men have been reprieved eight times during their 4½ years in the death house for the murder of Andrew Petrini, 30, of Mount Kisco, N. Y., in New Castle, N. Y., April 3, 1950.

Insists Boy Was Taken

Phoenix, Ariz., July 7 (AP)—A worried mother insisted today that her missing 2½-year-old son, Steven, did not wander off from home yesterday. While police intensified a hunt through east central Phoenix, Mrs. Louis Cipolla said her son has "never been outside by himself" and "someone carried him away, I just know it." The blue-eyed youngster, wearing pajama tops and white underpants, was last seen at 7:30 a. m. yesterday on the porch of his home.

Insists Boy Was Taken

Phoenix, Ariz., July 7 (AP)—A worried mother insisted today that her missing 2½-year-old son, Steven, did not wander off from home yesterday. While police intensified a hunt through east central Phoenix, Mrs. Louis Cipolla said her son has "never been outside by himself" and "someone carried him away, I just know it." The blue-eyed youngster, wearing pajama tops and white underpants, was last seen at 7:30 a. m. yesterday on the porch of his home.
